INTRODUCTION

These reports are intended for a general, nonspecialist audience. They run the gamut of the arts and sciences, historical and current events, and should provide the reader with useful introductions to given topics. May they encourage a few happy hours of suggestive thought!

UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT RESIGNS

Judicial review is the process by which executive or legislative actions are reviewed by a court. It is the process by which these actions may be invalidated by a court as incompatible with a nation's constitution. It is a check and balance against the power of a legislature or executive to violate individual rights. It is a brake on mob rule and executive overreach. In America, the principle of judicial review was formally declared in 1803, in the Supreme Court decision Marbury vs Madison, the single most important decision in the nation's jurisprudence. Listen to the Court recognize that a written constitution inherently establishes judicial review and the power of a court to strike down unconstitutional executive or legislative actions: "The powers of the legislature are defined and limited, and that those limits may not be mistaken or forgotten, the constitution is written. Certainly all those who have framed written constitutions contemplate them as forming the fundamental and paramount law of the nation, and consequently the theory of every such government must be, that an act of the legislature, repugnant to the constitution, is void. It is emphatically the province and duty of the judicial department to say what the law is." In the twentieth century, America fell victim to a perennial disease afflicting civilizations in a state of decline. It fell victim to a disease which afflicted ancient Rome and swept away its institutions of freedom, its Republic, Senate and Constitution. It fell victim to a terrifying, onrushing tide of caesars and their mobs which rendered judicial review null and void and swept it into the dustbin of history. In the past one hundred years, there have been four major Supreme Court cases in which the Court has refused to perform its duty under Marbury vs Madison and has sentenced judicial review to death. Four cases, four decisions written by the mob, four nails in the coffin of freedom in a land which defended the cause of freedom throughout the world. Listen to these four cases and hear the supreme law of the land shredded and thrown to the winds, and hear the death knell sound for freedom, sound as a fire bell in the night, which has awakened a civilized minority and filled it with terror, but which the majority has not heard and chosen to ignore. West Coast Hotel vs Parrish, 1937. Listen to the Court proclaim that the Due Process Clause of the Constitution does not say what it says. The clause says that no person shall be deprived of his life, liberty or property without due process of law. Without the process due to a person as a person, as a free born agent, as a human being in possession of natural, inalienable rights. It says that no person shall be deprived of his life, liberty or property unless he has committed an act of force or fraud against others, and that in the absence of such act, this person, as a free born agent, has the right to keep his liberty. To possess liberty means to possess liberty. The right to liberty means the right to liberty and any restriction of this right to a particular field or area of activity is without logical warrant. Liberty is indivisible and means liberty in mind and liberty in body. Subject only to the principles of nonaggression and honest dealing, it encompasses the liberty to think and speak, the liberty to own and dispose of property, the liberty to conduct a business and earn a profit, and the liberty to work and contract one's labor. Liberty of contract is a logical implication of the general guarantee of liberty and any attempt to restrict it represents an arbitrary restriction of liberty. Listen to the Court proclaim that the right to liberty does not mean the right to liberty and may be sacrificed on the altars of community interests and the welfare of the people: "The principle which must control our decision is not in doubt. The constitutional provision invoked is the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment governing the states, as the due process clause invoked in the Adkins case governed Congress. In each case the violation alleged by those attacking minimum wage regulation for women is deprivation of freedom of contract. What is this freedom? The Constitution does not speak of freedom of contract. It speaks of liberty and prohibits the deprivation of liberty without due process of law. In prohibiting that deprivation, the Constitution does not recognize an absolute and uncontrollable liberty. Liberty in each of its phases has its history and connotation. But the liberty safeguarded is liberty in a social organization which requires the protection of law against the evils which menace the health, safety, morals, and welfare of the people. Liberty under the Constitution is thus necessarily subject to the restraints of due process, and regulation which is reasonable in relation to its subject and is adopted in the interests of the community is due process." Heart of Atlanta Motel vs United States, 1964. Listen to the Supreme Court proclaim that the Commerce Clause in Article I of the Constitution does not say what it says. The Clause says that "Congress shall have the power to regulate Commerce with foreign Nations, and among the several States, and with the Indian Tribes." The power to regulate interstate commerce is the power to regulate interstate commerce and not acts which affect interstate commerce. Acts which affect interstate commerce are not acts of interstate commerce, any more than something which affects the rain is itself the rain or something which affects a snowstorm is itself a snowstorm. The cause of something is not that thing; a cause is not its effects. A local business is a local business and is not an interstate business. An interstate business crosses state lines, while a local business does not. Listen to the Court violate the plain meaning of words and deploy its expansive and perverse interpretation of the Commerce Clause to violate the right to property, the right to associate with those of one's choice, and the right of a privately owned business not be forced to serve customers: "Held: 1. Title II of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 is a valid exercise of Congress' power under the Commerce Clause as applied to a place of public accommodation serving interstate travelers. (a) The interstate movement of persons is commerce which concerns more than one state. (b) The protection of interstate commerce is within the regulatory power of Congress under the Commerce Clause whether or not the transportation of persons between States is commercial. (c) Congress' action in removing the disruptive effect which it found racial discrimination has on interstate travel is not invalidated because Congress was also legislating against what it considered to be moral wrongs. (d) Congress had power to enact appropriate legislation with regard to a place of public accommodation such as appellant's motel even if it is assumed to be of a purely local character, as Congress' power over interstate commerce extends to the regulation of local incidents thereof which might have a substantial and harmful effect upon that commerce. (2) The prohibition in Title II of racial discrimination in public accommodations affecting commerce does not violate the Fifth Amendment as being a deprivation of property or liberty without due process of law. (3) Such prohibition does not violate the Thirteenth Amendment as being involuntary servitude." National Federation of Independent Business vs Sebelius, 2012. Listen to the Supreme Court proclaim that Congress has the right to force people to obtain health insurance under its constitutional power to tax. Listen to it proclaim that Congress has this right because for the purpose of saving a popular socialist program, the Court is allowed to say that A is not A, a fine is not a fine, a command is not a command, a mandate is not a mandate and a penalty is not a penalty, but is a tax, and thus may be exacted under Congress's constitutional power to tax. Listen to it proclaim that the Court is allowed to read the Affordable Care Act's mandate to obtain health insurance in the most unnatural, unreasonable, untruthful and unbelievable way possible in order to allow the majority free rein to do what it yearns to do and to enact socialism in America: "The most straightforward reading of the mandate is that it commands individuals to purchase insurance. After all, it states that individuals 'shall' maintain health insurance. Congress thought it could enact such a command under the Commerce Clause, and the Government primarily defended the law on that basis. But, for the reasons explained above, the Commerce Clause does not give Congress that power. Under our precedent, it is therefore necessary to ask whether the Government's alternative reading of the statute—that it only imposes a tax on those without insurance—is a reasonable one. Under the mandate, if an individual does not maintain health insurance, the only consequence is that he must make an additional payment to the IRS when he pays his taxes. That, according to the Government, means the mandate can be regarded as establishing a condition—not owning health insurance—that triggers a tax—the required payment to the IRS. Under that theory, the mandate is not a legal command to buy insurance. Rather, it makes going without insurance just another thing the Government taxes, like buying gasoline or earning income. And if the mandate is in effect just a tax hike on certain taxpayers who do not have health insurance, it may be within Congress's constitutional power to tax. The question is not whether that is the most natural interpretation of the mandate, but only whether it is a 'fairly possible' one. As we have explained, 'every reasonable construction must be resorted to, in order to save a statute from unconstitutionality.' The Government asks us to interpret the mandate as imposing a tax, if it would otherwise violate the Constitution. Granting the Act the full measure of deference owed to federal statutes, it can be so read." Dobbs vs Jackson Women's Health Organization, 2022. Listen to the United States Supreme Court breach the separation between church and state, set forth in the Establishment Clause of the First Amendment, and authorize states to declare that abortion is murder and outlaw it. Listen to it authorize states to impose a religious, unempirical conception of when human personhood begins and to declare that at the moment of conception, the one cell zygote which appears is an actual human person. Listen to it authorize states to impose the religious view that a fertilized ovum at the moment of conception is an unborn child. Listen to it proclaim that states have a right to force women to carry their pregnancy to term because the word abortion is not mentioned in the Constitution, and the right to liberty does not mean the right to liberty: "For the first 185 years after the adoption of the Constitution, each State was permitted to address this issue in accordance with the views of its citizens. Then, in 1973, this Court decided Roe vs Wade. Even though the Constitution makes no mention of abortion, the Court held that it confers a broad right to obtain one. We hold that Roe and Casey must be overruled. The Constitution makes no reference to abortion, and no such right is implicitly protected by any constitutional provision, including the one on which the defenders of Roe and Casey now chiefly rely—the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment. That provision has been held to guarantee some rights that are not mentioned in the Constitution, but any such right must be 'deeply rooted in this Nation's history and tradition' and 'implicit in the concept of ordered liberty.' " A weather vane is an instrument which shows the direction of the wind. The word is derived from the English word fana, which means flag, and the instrument, featuring the four geographical directions, is placed on the highest point of the building. In the twentieth century, the United States Supreme Court transformed its mission, changed its remit and abolished its function of judicial review. It ceased to be a court of law and became a political body. It shredded the Constitution and opened its chambers to the mob. It became an ideological weather vane pointing south into the inferno of tyranny.

AGATHA CHRISTIE MURDERED

She is celebrated as the Queen of Mystery and the Queen of Crime. She was the best selling fiction writer of all time, her novels selling over two billion copies. She was the most translated author of all time. Her novel, And Then There Were None, is among the top selling books of all time, selling over one hundred million copies. Her stage play, The Mousetrap, is the world's longest longest running stage play, with over 30,000 performances. She was the first recipient of the Grand Master Award given by the Mystery Writer's of America. The Crime Writers' Association voted her the best crime writer of all time and voted her novel, The Murder of Roger Akroyd, the best crime novel of all time. Her books have been adapted for television, radio, motion pictures and video games. Dame Agatha Mary Clarissa Christie, born in 1890 and died in 1976, has died again, in spirit and soul, in the twenty first century, victim of a campaign which has swept across the West, victim of an assassination which, in view of the character and prestige of the target, ranks as the greatest literary crime in the past one hundred years. There is no mystery as to the identity of the killer, no need to employ the detective work or powers of deduction for which her heroes are famous. The killer is all around us and has claimed the works of the world's greatest authors. The killer is the enforcement of political correctness by a tentacular monster at work everywhere known as Marxism. This monster stalks the world, sparing no masterworks and no canon in its quest to impose religion and overthrow the legacies of the Enlightenment. This religion has to do with gender, race, class, culture and sexual orientation; it is a religion embracing the tenets of feminist Marxism, black Marxism, proletarian Marxism, cultural Marxism and sexual orientation Marxism; and it has mangled, mauled and mutilated the detective novels and short story collections of a writer whose works are outsold only by Shakespeare and the Bible. First appearing in Marxist-Leninist thought after the Russian Revolution of 1917, first employed to describe blind obedience to the principles and policies of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union, blind obedience to the Communist Party line, political correctness has opened fire on the works of Agatha Christie to wild cheers and ovations of the mobs who voted Marxism into power in the early years of the twentieth century and made it the Western establishment. The fearsome hand of Marxist censorship has rewritten the works of the creator of the iconic Hercule Poirot and Miss Marple to protect the sensibilities of the mobs. These volleys have removed politically incorrect descriptions of certain ethnic groups. They have removed politically incorrect descriptions of blacks. They have removed politically incorrect vulgarities such as nigger, deemed politically incorrect if uttered by whites but not if uttered by blacks. They have removed politically incorrect descriptions of Jews. They have removed politically incorrect descriptions of gypsies. They have removed politically incorrect descriptions of Indians. They have removed politically incorrect descriptions of native tribes. They have removed the term oriental as a politically incorrect description of people and cultures from the East. They have removed politically incorrect descriptions of badly behaved children who trouble and annoy their parents. They have removed politically incorrect descriptions of people from the Caribbean. They have kidnapped the author of books selling in the billions, the author of the world's longest running play, the author of stories of amateur detectives which have thrilled and inspired audiences of all ages, and transformed her into a poster girl for political correctness and the Marxist attack on the West: "Even the bestselling novelist in the world isn't being spared woke rewrite treatments to spare the delicate sensitivities of modern readers, with Agatha Christie's works getting the full treatment from her publisher. Christie is famous for creating such timeless sleuths as Hercule Poirot and Miss Marple, and the Daily Telegraph reports new editions based on both these investigators have had original passages amended or excised by publisher Harper Collins. Insults and references to ethnicity feature amongst the references to have received the editorial reworking. Socalled sensitivity readers had made the edits, which were evident in digital versions of the new editions, including the entire Miss Marple run and selected Poirot novels set to be released or that have been released since 2020, the Telegraph reported. The updates follow edits made to books by Roald Dahl and Ian Fleming to remove offensive references to gender and race in a bid to 'protect' modern readers, as Breitbart News reported. The newspaper reported the edits cut references to ethnicity, such as describing a character as black, Jewish or gypsy or a female character's torso as 'of black marble' and a judge's 'Indian temper', and remove terms such as Oriental and the nigger. The word natives has also been replaced with the word local. Among the examples of changes cited by the Telegraph is the 1937 Poirot novel Death on the Nile, in which the character of Mrs Allerton complains a group of children are pestering her, saying that 'they come back and stare, and stare, and their eyes are simply disgusting, and so are their noses, and I don't believe I really like children'. This has reportedly been stripped down in a new edition to state: 'They come back and stare, and stare. And I don't believe I really like children.' The new edition of the 1964 Miss Marple novel, A Caribbean Mystery, the amateur detective's musing that a hotel worker smiling at her has 'such lovely white teeth' has been removed, the newspaper added. Guinness World Records lists Christie as the best selling fiction writer of all time, her books having sold more than two billion copies. As well as writing top selling novels, Christie also created the world's longest running play, the murder mystery The Mousetrap, which has been performed in the West End since 1952." (Now Agatha Christie Gets The Rewrite Treatment To Spare Modern Sensitivities by Simon Kent). Look at the fearsome hand of Marxist censorship and see it remove Agatha Christie's works on the grounds that they are politically unsuitable for readers today. See it remove her works on the grounds that they contain politically incorrect racism against blacks as opposed to politically correct racism against whites. See it remove her works on the grounds that they contain politically incorrect language, characters, attitudes and references. See it remove her works on the grounds that they commit hate crimes against politically correct groups, such as the poor, nonwhites and nonWestern cultures, as opposed to politically incorrect groups, such as the rich, whites and Western culture, for whom hatred is justified and mandatory: "Agatha Christie began writing her detective fiction in 1916 and finished writing it in 1973. During that period, what was and wasn't considered suitable for an English speaking readership underwent many changes, with racier language becoming more acceptable and racist attitudes becoming far less so. Today, 100 years after The Mysterious Affair at Styles, it is now considered a hate crime to use derogatory language in response to another person's religion, race or sexual or gender orientation. Readers in the present day who are new to Agatha Christie's books, attracted in the main by film and TV adaptations of her stories, are often shocked by the language and attitudes displayed within them; much of it would have been edited out of the modern screen versions. Social media forums dedicated to Christie are often very cosmopolitan in make up, and there are always comments querying the racist attitudes on display. The usual response from moderators is that attitudes were very different in those days, and one should not judge people in the past by the morals of today. I am not convinced that Agatha Christie needs to be defended in this way. The books of the early 1920s, in particular her light hearted thrillers, are awash with casual references which would no doubt outrage the virtue signaling public of today, but in many cases I find that the language has been used to illustrate the nature of the character who says it rather than that of the author. I have reread all of her detective fiction and picked out examples of politically incorrect attitudes from many of her books. These also include examples of the class consciousness of the time that pertained in England especially." (You Can't Say That! by Swigatha). Look at the fearsome hand of Marxist censorship and see it remove Agatha Christie's works on the grounds that they cause politically correct readers to become unhappy and distressed. See it remove her works and replace them with international editions and translations in every language of the Communist Manifesto: "The French translation of Agatha Christie's hit novel And Then There Were None will change its title to remove a racially charged word already dropped from the British edition decades ago, its editor said Wednesday. The title Dix Petits Negres, or Ten Little Niggers, will become ls Etaient Dix or They Were Ten. The decision to change the French title of one of the best selling books by the Queen of Crime was taken by her great grandson James Prichard, who heads the company that owns the rights to Christie's works. Prichard told the RTL broadcaster that the book, first published in Britain in 1939 under the title Ten Little Niggers after a minstrel song, dated from a time when such language was common. Not using words 'that upset people', Prichard said, 'just seems to me a very sensible position to have in 2020'. Publisher Masque confirmed to AFP that the edit was made at the request of the company Agatha Christie Limited 'to align it with the English and American editions and all other international translations.' " (N Word Dropped From French Edition Of Agatha Christie Novel, Agence France Presse, August 26 2020). Chairman Mao has defined our future as an armed revolutionary youth organization. So if Chairman Mao is our Red Commander in Chief and we are his Red Guards, who can stop us? First we will make China Maoist from inside out and then we will help the working people of other countries make the world red, and then the whole universe. Thus spoke a Red Guard leader during the Cultural Revolution. (Quoted in China's Great Proletarian Cultural Revolution: Master Narratives and Post Mao Counternarratives by Woei Lien Chong). In the twenty first century, in the publishing offices of HarperCollins, the Red Guards are back in business. Their commanders are the ruling circles and mobs of the West. Lashed onward by the fury of Marxist fanaticism, they have dyed Agatha Christie's works in the stains of political correctness, and there is no countervailing force to repel them.

COLUMBIA CALLING AMERICA: DEATH TO THE WEST

In Morningside Heights on the Upper West Side of Manhattan is situated the oldest university in New York, the fifth oldest in America, and one of the most prestigious universities in the world. It was established in 1754 as a colonial college under royal charter, established as King's College, and was originally located on the grounds of Trinity Church in Manhattan. Following the American Revolution, it was renamed, and in 1896, it moved to its present location. This storied institution of higher education has been a world leader in the arts and letters and in scientific research and development. Its scientists played leading roles in the development of communication pathways from the brain to machines, nuclear fission and nuclear reactors, in the theories of plate tectonics and continental drift, and in the Manhattan Project during World War II, which produced the world's first nuclear weapons. Its faculty and students occupy the front ranks of human achievement: four American presidents, thirty four foreign heads of state, two secretaries-general of the United Nations, ten justices of the United States Supreme Court, one hundred and three Nobel Laureates, one hundred and twenty five National Academy of Science members, fifty three living billionaires, twenty three Olympic medalists, thirty three Academy Award winners, and one hundred and twenty five Pulitzer Prize winners. In the twenty first century, this American Ivy League icon called Columbia University was shut down. It fell victim to a cancer which has swept through the West. This cancer attacks civilizations in a state of decline and pushes them into a jungle of violence and bloodshed. This cancer is the rejection of reason, the foundation of human freedom, and the worship of religion in its place. Religion appears in two forms: as State worship on Earth and as God worship in heaven. The peddlers of State worship and God worship pushed ancient Rome into the abyss; they swept away pagan reason and the greatest civilization of reason in the history of mankind; and these forces, their emperors, their mobs and their Christians, plunged Europe into centuries of darkness. In the twenty first century, the peddlers of State worship and the peddlers of God worship have again joined in an alliance, and their campaign of civilizational destruction has smashed through the gates of a university named in honor of Christopher Columbus, named in honor of the West. The State worshipers attacking Columbia University today are Marxists, the God worshipers are Islamists, and together they have detonated a bomb on campus whose debris have buried the legacies of the Enlightenment and the American Revolution which had propelled the university into world class status. Look at Columbia University today and see classrooms and campus squares festooned with symbols of Jew hatred. See Western values and liberal democracy condemned as regimes of extremism and butchery held to be exemplified by Israel. See capitalism condemned as a regime of racism and apartheid held to be exemplified by Israel. See capitalism condemned as a regime of colonial nationhood held to be exemplified by Israel. See the murder of Israeli civilians justified as resistance to capitalist imperialism. See the overthrow of capitalism justified in the name of Intifada. See the annihilation of Israel and genocide against Jews justified as acts of popular liberation. See the daily assault of Jewish students protesting against Hamas terror and hostage taking. See antisemitism established as the official policy of the university. See the university transformed into a center for Palestine studies, Jew hatred, Hamas propaganda, Islamist terror and the destruction of the West. See the rejection of everything the university championed since its inception, reason, truth, objectivity and academic freedom, and the university transformed into a Palestinian and Islamist occupied territory. See a campus wide movement demand that Israel, because it is a free society and the only free society in the Middle East, be targeted with a campaign of boycott, disinvestment and sanctions. See Israel condemned as a regime of colonial cruelty and oppression on the grounds that it is free society. See Israel condemned as an illegitimate colonialist state on the grounds that it is a free society. See the university transformed into Ramallah, the headquarters and capital city of a global anti-Israel, antisemitic, national socialist hate movement, dedicated to restarting Hitler's gas chambers. See the university repeal its mission of liberal education and transform itself into a Palestinian Liberation Organization, a Palestinian National Council, Students for Justice in Palestine, an International Meeting for Science in Palestine, and a Teacher's Workshop on Citizenship and Nationality in Israel/Palestine. See the university condemn freedom supremacy, liberal supremacy, capitalist supremacy, Jewish supremacy and Western supremacy and advocate for the destruction of civilization by an Islamist, Palestinian totalitarian dictatorship. See Jews condemned, as Hitler condemned them, as treasonous, poisonous infiltrators of nations on the grounds that they champion liberal democracy. See Israel condemned as an invader and colonizer of Palestine because it seeks to abolish theocracy and spread freedom. See the university create a fearsome and terrifying map. This is a map of people and places. This is a map of targets. The people and places are movements of freedom and they have been targeted for extermination by the Marxist-Islamist axis in control of the West, America and Columbia University: "In the days following Hamas's barbaric October 7th massacre of Israeli civilians, university campuses across the nation became a focal point for—and a symbol of—the Jew hatred that infects our culture. One of the foremost examples on that list is Columbia University, where just one day after the attacks, twenty campus organizations signed a statement excusing Hamas's butchery as justified 'resistance' and claiming that 'The weight of responsibility for the war and casualties undeniably lies with the Israeli extremist government and other Western governments.' Students marched through campus chanting for 'Intifada' and the annihilation of the Jewish state and the genocide of the Jewish people. An Israeli student was physically beaten with a wooden stick in front of the famous Butler Library on Columbia's campus after he objected to an individual tearing down posters of the Israeli hostages taken by Hamas. On October 27, Columbia University President Minouche Shafik released a statement claiming to be 'shocked to hear of several antisemitic incidents in just the last couple of days' and stating that 'antisemitism, like any form of bigotry, is an assault on everything we stand for at Columbia.' President Shafik's words might carry more weight if Columbia's own Center for Palestine Studies hadn't been promoting Jew hatred and spreading vile Hamas propaganda for over a decade. Columbia officially opened the Center for Palestine Studies in 2010, the first American university to dedicate an institute to the study of Palestinian Arabs. Specifying that its mission is 'supporting and defending the academic freedom of students, faculty and schools in the Occupied Territories,' the Center makes no pretense of intellectual objectivity and makes clear through its events and the faculty it hires that it supports the BDS movement which was designed to further the goals of terrorist groups like Hamas and to delegitimize, weaken and destroy the Jewish state. The faculty in charge of the Center reads like a who's-who list of academic Jew haters. The original codirectors of the Center were Columbia professor Rashid Khalidi and Barnard College professor Nadia Abu El Haj. Khalidi is known for his extreme hostility to Israel which he has called 'racist' and 'basically an apartheid system in creation.' El Haj has condemned academic researchers in Israel, claiming that the work of archaeology in Palestine/Israel is a screen for the 'ongoing practice of colonial nationhood' and that the assumption that ancient Israelite kingdoms were once located in the land that constitutes modern day Israel is a 'pure political fabrication.' Brian Boyd, the current codirector of the Center with El-Haj, is a leader in the genocidal BDS movement against Israel and has pushed for the American Archeological Association to boycott Israeli universities. While not officially affiliated with the Center, notorious Columbia history professor Joseph Massad also belongs on this list for publishing an article calling the October Seventh attacks 'awesome' and 'the stunning victory of the Palestinian resistance' against 'cruel colonizers.' The official Center website states that it was created to honor 'the specific scholarly legacy of Professor Edward Said at the university where he taught for forty years.' The late Edward Said was a Columbia professor who preached in his academic writing and his extracurricular activities that Israel was both illegitimate and also a colonialist state. He was a member of the Palestinian Liberation Organization's Palestinian National Council until 1991 when he resigned because he thought Yasser Arafat's policies were too moderate towards Israel. " (Columbia U Center For Palestine Studies: Cheerleaders For Hamas by Sara Dogan). An incubator is a device utilized to grow biological cultures. It maintains optimal temperature, humidity, oxygen and carbon dioxide levels in the atmosphere inside, and is essential to research in microbiology. Allowing and encouraging encampments, occupations, disruptions, trespasses, violence, terror and a virulent spread of antisemitism staged by a movement of Marxists and Islamists, Columbia University has become a political and ideological incubator. Its bacteria of hate have spread across America.

THE DARK RIDERS

It first appeared in history in the Battle of Marathon in 490 BC. In this battle between the Athenians and the Persians, the Athenian general Miltiades deployed 11,000 Athenians in a U formation against the enemy. The two converging Athenian flanks forced the Persians to retreat in panic. It was used by Alexander the Great in the Battle of the Hydaspes in 326 BC. In this battle between the Greeks and the Indians, the Greek king Alexander trapped the Indian cavalry within a left flank and a right flank. It was used by Hannibal in the Battle of Cannae in 216 BC. In this battle between the Romans and the Carthaginians, the Carthaginian general Hannibal surrounded and annihilated the Roman army. This tactic is called the pincer movement; it is the tactic of double envelopment of the enemy, the simultaneous attack on both sides; and it has played a vital role in the history of warfare. In the history of civilizational downfall and destruction, the pincer movement has featured prominently. It is represented by two opposing philosophical forces which have united and converged on their victim. These two forces are the materialists and the spiritualists. The first camp denies or downplays the existence of mind and worships at the altar of matter. The second camp denies or downplays the existence of matter and worships at the altar of an otherworldly, supernatural existence. The materialists and the spiritualists formed a pincer movement which surrounded and annihilated Classical civilization. The materialists were the socialists, the statist, the mobs and the caesars who declared war on pagan reason and freedom. The spiritualists were the Christians who declared war on pagan reason and freedom. These two forces, representing symptoms of a psychosis which denied or downplayed aspects of existence, mental or material, and invented strange, new realities, united, enveloped and destroyed the greatest civilization of reason the world has ever seen. Its shining symbol was Apollo and it was destroyed by choices made by a degenerate majority. In the twenty first century, the pincer movement has reappeared and is back in business, leading the West into destruction. The materialists and the spiritualists have joined forces and brought the civilization which gave the world the Enlightenment to an end. They have mounted their saddles, charged over the horizon, and brought down the apocalypse. They have appeared in the form of five horsemen, two representing materialism and the others spiritualism. The materialists are represented by Marxists, peddlers of the foremost religion of materialism in our time, and by a resurgent nationalism. From the original proletarian class theory founded by master Marx in the nineteenth century, Marxism branched out into race theory and gender theory in the twentieth century, and in the twenty first century, a triple headed monster of tribalism has spread its flames across the world and blackened every aspect of society. This monster is called Gender, Race and Class Politics, and its targets include whites, males, heterosexuals, the talented and successful, and people who do not pretend they are members of the opposite sex and do not call themselves transgender. Championing proletarian Marxism, feminist Marxism, black Marxism, gay Marxism, lesbian Marxism, and transgender Marxism, in addition to a resurgent nationalism, this religion of materialism has been joined in its campaign against reason and freedom by three old time religions of spiritualism enjoying a resurgence in the present day: Christianity, Islam and Orthodox Judaism. Listen to the five horsemen of the apocalypse. Marxism. Listen to Marxists proclaim that a progressive society is a Marxist lesbian society. Listen to them proclaim that collective power is more important than individual power and has a right to dispose of the individual as it deems fit. Listen to them proclaim that a progressive society is a tribal solidarity society which has abolished individual rights. Listen to them proclaim that a constitutional republic is a lash of patriarchal, antilesbian exploitation and oppression and must swept away by an ideology and organization dedicated to the uprooting of the Enlightenment and its poisonous tree of human essentialism and universality. Listen to them proclaim that the sole path to a better world resides in the renunciation of reason and its replacement by a religion of cultural Marxism and its holy spirits of gender, race, class and sexual orientation: "The president of the American Library Association (ALA) is doubling down on a statement she made last year calling herself a 'Marxist lesbian.' After being elected ALA president in April of 2022, Emily Drabinski posted a now deleted tweet saying: 'I just cannot believe that a Marxist lesbian who believes that collective power is possible to build and can be wielded for a better world is the president elect of @ALALibrary. I am so excited for what we will do together. Solidarity! And my mom is SO PROUD. I love you mom.' Drabinski's self identification as a Marxist, an ideology antithetical to a constitutional republic, has led conservative lawmakers in several states to push for the withdrawal of their state's libraries from the ALA, including Arizona, Idaho, Illinois, Georgia, Louisiana, South Carolina and Wyoming. Montana became the first state last month to cut ties with the ALA, with the Montana State Library Commission, stating that 'our oath of office and resulting duty to the Constitution forbids association with an organization led by a Marxist.' " (American Library Association President Stands By Tweet Admitting She Is A 'Marxist Lesbian,' States Look To Cut Ties by Katharine Hamilton). Christianity. Listen to Christians proclaim that man was born stained in original sin and is inherently greedy, deceitful, envious, bigoted and sadistic. Listen to them proclaim that all efforts to perfect man and society are doomed to failure by virtue of man's original sin. Listen to them proclaim that all utopias are vain delusions by virtue of man's original sin. Listen to them proclaim that human nature is the great corrupter of the world and the source of all misery by virtue of man's original sin. Listen to them proclaim that human evil cannot be eliminated by human will or action but solely by the grace of God. Listen to them proclaim that the only alternative to Marxist mysticism, to the religion of gender, race, class and social justice, is Christian mysticism with its doctrine of God worship, divine fiat and intervention, and man's original sin. Listen to them proclaim that the notion of a rational utopia, a community of rational agents, means, missions and ends, is impossible and inconceivable, and the only alternative to Marxist utopia is Christian theocracy subsisting in heaven. Listen to them proclaim that morality has nothing to do with performing good deeds because all human efforts at redemption are vain, and man can only be saved by the arbitrary will of God; man can only be justified by faith and not by any action. Listen to them proclaim that the source of all existence is God and not nature, logic or law, that there are no facts or certainties about the world, that anything can happen at any moment by the command of God, and that two and two can equal six, water can boil at zero degrees, a thing can be both black all over and white all over at one and the same time, good can be evil and evil can be good, and the killing of innocent people can be the path to moral perfection, if God so commands these. Listen to them proclaim that secularism has no basis in reality because God is the supreme reality, the Enlightenment was a false age because faith is superior to reason, and the sole foundation of human freedom is the arbitrary decision of omnipotent God. Listen to them proclaim that the United States of America, a creation of the Enlightenment founded upon the Enlightenment creed of reason, secularism and inborn, inalienable human rights, was not in fact a creation of the Enlightenment but was a creation of Martin Luther and the Protestant Reformation with their rejection of reason and belief that God is the author of man's rights and can take them away at any moment: "How could we believe that the same human beings whose greed, deceit, envy, bigotry, sadism, and hate were responsible for human misery could liberate the world if only they could acquire enough power to compel everyone else to obey them? Was there ever a more perverse and destructive idea? There never was. To this obvious misery we added a new dimension of perversity. To seek the redemption of the world was a holy mission. Indeed, what mission could be nobler? Therefore, what lie would our social justice warriors not tell, what crime not commit or support, to achieve such a miraculous result? Our radical utopianism was a criminal creed. Those of us who broke free from these utopian delusions came to understand that the corrupter of the world was not society, patriarchy, or race. It was us. These truths are encapsulated in the most humbling and liberating Lutheran doctrine of all: justification by faith. The idea that Martin Luther put front and center in his thoughts about the human condition. If redemption is possible, if a harmonious world can be achieved, it will not be by the efforts of those who are the source of human misery but only by the grace of a God whom mortals cannot seduce or corrupt. As it happens, this is also the foundational belief of a secular democracy, based on equality and individual freedom." (America Betrayed: How A Christian Monk Created America And Why The Left Is Determined To Destroy Her by David Horowitz). Islam. Look at the West today and see a resurgence of Islam, fifteen centuries after it was repelled at the Battle of Tours on October 10, 732 AD. See it return and claim a trophy of victory, a trophy inscribed with the present most popular name for boys in the civilization which gave the modern world reason, science, freedom and progress. The name is Mohammed: "Sophie and Noah were the most popular baby names in Germany last year, but in several regions including the national capital strong local variations exist, including the primacy of Mohammed for boys. Germany's state funded language institute has revealed its baby name statistics in 2023, and said Mohammed is the most popular boy's name in a group of cities. The German statistics combine homophones, meaning Mohammed is counted alongside Mohamed, Muhammed, Mohammad, Muhammet, Muhamet, and others, in the same way it counts Sophia and Sofia together, which is the most popular girls' name for 2023. While Noah is the most popular boys' name nationwide, German newspaper Die Welt notes buried within regional statistics Mohammed is the most popular name in Berlin, Hamburg, and Bremen. As reported by RBB24, Mohammed has now been the top name in Berlin for several years." (Mohammed Most Popular Baby Boy's Name In Berlin And Hamburg by Oliver JJ Lane). Orthodox Judaism. Look at Israel today and see a nation founded in 1948 as a liberal democracy, guaranteeing a wall of separation between church and state inherited from British Mandatory Palestine, stained and sullied beyond recognition. See a resurgent movement of Orthodox Judaism transform the liberal, secular state of Israel into an unconstitutional theocratic regime which has deprived the courts of their power to strike down arbitrary, unreasonable, religious based legislation: "The judicial changes would have given the government full control over the committee which appoints judges and would ultimately strip the Supreme Court of crucial powers to strike down legislation it saw as effectively unconstitutional. They sparked one of the greatest political and social disputes of Israel's modern era--much of which hinged on opponents' fears that his government of the ultrareligious and far right was speeding the country towards theocratic rule." (Israel Crisis A Battle For Country's Identity by Tom Bateman). Nationalism. Look at the West today and see resurgent forces of national identity stage a campaign to repeal individual rights. See mobs intoxicated on primitive weeds worship at the altar of national culture, clan, family and ethnicity. See them sing songs of savagery which have torpedoed the Enlightenment ship of state. Championing limited government and a liberal society as it navigated seas of tyranny for centuries, this ship lies wrecked at the bottom of the ocean of history: "Former Vice President Mike Pence spoke about the future of the conservative movement Wednesday morning, warning that it cannot be 'led astray by the siren song of unprincipled populism.' Pence said speaking to an audience at the Heritage Foundation: 'Our movement cannot forsake the foundational commitment that we have to security, to limited government, to liberty, and to life. But nor can we allow our movement to be led astray by the siren song of unprincipled populism that's unmoored from our oldest traditions and most cherished values.' It appears that younger conservatives are much more comfortable with nationalism, populism, and the use of government power to attain conservative wins than older generations who prefer Reagan era conservatism." (Mike Pence: Conservative Movement Cannot Be 'Led Astray By The Siren Song Of Unprincipled Populism' by Brecca Thies). Five religions ascendant in a degenerate age, five riders of the apocalypse, five nails in the coffin of civilization, hammered into place by the clamor of the mob.

FRAUD AT THE POLLS

Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper was an American illustrated literary and news magazine founded in 1855 by Frank Leslie and published until 1922. It was nationally famous for its vivid depictions of American life accompanied by wood engravings and daguerreotypes, and its issues are collectors' items today. The July 19, 1856 issue of the magazine features an illustrated report on electoral fraud in America. It is a report on the pervasive practice of ballot stuffing which deprived people from coast to coast of their right to vote in free and fair elections: "We give three views of the Stuffer's Ballot Box, which will give the reader a clear idea of the modus operandi of conducting elections in San Francisco and probably in some of our northern cities. The drawings were made from the box now in possession of the Vigilance Committee." In the twenty first century, the ballot stuffers are back in business and have expanded their operations beyond the wildest dreams of their nineteenth century predecessors. They have changed their aim and mission and upgraded their methods and tactics. They now operate in the service of the most popular religion of the past one hundred years and operate exclusively out of that religion's political headquarters. They operate in the service of Marxism and operate out of the Democrat Party. In the twenty first century, the Democrats committed a crime never before committed in the history of the nation, a crime which occupies front page in the annals of political scandals, a crime which has sent a nation which led and protected the free world for a century, hurtling into the jungle of outlaw states. In the twenty first century, the Democrats rigged the 2020 presidential election. Compounding their unimaginable and inconceivable crime, they plan to rig all subsequent presidential elections. Their election rigging was greeted by standing ovations from coast to coast by a majority which has been supporting Marxism in landslide after landslide, through twenty two presidencies, under a ticket marked progressivism, since the dawn of the twentieth century. Their plan to rig all future presidential elections has likewise been greeted by standing ovations because it will fulfill the majority's dream to keep Marxism in power forever. The Democrats rigged the 2020 presidential election by fraudulent mail in ballots for Joe Biden. They rigged the election by ballot drop boxes containing fraudulent votes for Joe Biden. They rigged the election by third party harvesting of fraudulent votes for Joe Biden. They rigged the election by abolishing voter identification requirements. They rigged the election by abolishing signature match requirements for ballots. They rigged the election by extending voting times for weeks past election day and counting fraudulent votes for Joe Biden until Joe Biden won. They rigged the election by delivering fraudulent votes for Joe Biden to polling stations across the country in the dead of night. They rigged the election by votes cast by illegal aliens, whom they automatically and illegally registered to vote when they issued drivers' licenses to them. Look now at America's future and see a vote rigging operation designed to subvert democracy as nothing else will and to drive a stake, like no other stake ever driven in a free society, into the soul of the people's constitution. The Democrats will rig future presidential elections by allowing the migrant scum of the Earth to settle, multiply and vote. They will rig future presidential elections by bribing migrant scum with money cards, free travel, free housing, free lawyers, free telephones, and twenty thousand dollar loans which will be automatically forgiven in exchange for voting Democrat. They will rig future presidential elections by flying in migrants from the dirtiest and most disorderly cesspools on Earth where they thrive like bacteria. They will rig future presidential elections by giving Muslims across the world the right to vote. They will rig future presidential elections by giving Palestinians the right to vote. They will rig future presidential elections by giving Jew haters throughout the world the right to vote. They will rig future presidential elections by giving people throughout the world who burn American flags the right to vote. They will rig future presidential elections by giving rabid, violent animals throughout the world the right to vote. They will rig future presidential elections by giving people filled with rage against civilization the right to vote. They will rig future presidential elections by giving criminals throughout the world the right to vote. They will rig future presidential elections by giving members of drug gangs throughout the world the right to vote. They will rig future presidential elections by giving masters of terror networks throughout the world the right to vote. They will rig future presidential elections by giving America haters throughout the world the right to vote. They will rig future presidential elections by giving people throughout the world unwilling to work, willing only to consume and never produce, and able to engorge themselves like swine on government welfare feeding troughs and able to do nothing else, the right to vote. They will rig future presidential elections by uniting the Marxists of the world, black Marxists, hispanic Marxists, Islamist Marxists, Palestinian Marxists, Hamas Marxists, Jew hating Marxists, white hating Marxists and America hating Marxists, in an operation to transform America into a one party totalitarian dictatorship which has outlawed freedom forever: "Democrats invite the whole world in, wave them through with no questions asked, and disperse them throughout the USA wherever needed to win elections. And if letting in millions works, why not let in tens of millions? Shower them with $10,000 Visa cards, free travel, free housing, free lawyers, free phones, and ask only one thing of them--register to vote in the state we're sending you to. Simple, easy, effective. Result? Democrats are stealing not only elections but the whole country. If Democrats can bring in enough new illegal aliens, no Republican president will ever win again. Soon Democrats will control the Senate and House forever more. And then America is finished. Need further proof? While this nation is on fire; while millions illegally cross the border; while hundreds of thousands more are flown straight from the Darien Gap in Panama into the USA with $20,000 loans by Uncle Sam (forgiven the moment they land on US soil); while we spend a half TRILLION dollars a year on illegal aliens (which means the national debt will soon overwhelm the economy and collapse the country); while America is experiencing a crime wave like no other in our history; while our schools and health care system are being overwhelmed. Worst of all, while our colleges are invaded and occupied by vile, violent Jew haters from Muslim terrorist controlled nations flying Palestinian flags, burning US flags and chanting Death to America; while Jewish students' lives are threatened; while Jews feel persecuted like never before in our country's history. In the middle of all this, President Joe Biden is telling us he wants to import Palestinians from Gaza. What? Palestinians? People so poverty stricken for generations, so addicted to welfare, so dependent on government, so filled with rage and hate for Jews, Christians and Americans, taught from childhood to murder Jews, and their ranks so filled with criminals and terrorists that no Muslim nation in the world will take them. In the middle of the anarchy going on at our colleges, Biden wants to pour fuel on the fire? He wants to import the most serious Jew haters, America haters and Islamic terrorists in the world? Because we don't have enough trouble already? He's willing to further endanger the lives of every Jew in America? What this tells you is Biden (and his boss Barack Obama, who is directing all of this) must be hell bent on the intentional destruction of America. Or perhaps Biden simply wants to import more bodies into America to vote Democrat. Any bodies at all, as long as they're warm and willing to vote Democrat for life. Even the Palestinians, who no Muslim country in the world wants to touch because of the violence and terrorism they bring. But it's not just white Americans that Biden (and his boss Obama) and the entire Democratic Party are replacing. Yes, they want to replace white Americans, but also black Americans and hispanic Americans, and any American with a brain and common sense. Democrats want to replace all American citizens. Period. Why? All so that they can turn America into a one party country, turn us all into desperate sheeple, dependent on government for life and retain control forever." (The Great Replacement? Hell, Yes by Wayne Allen Root). The Democrats will rig future presidential elections by abolishing immigration rules, dissolving the nation's borders, and giving voting rights to the tidal wave of subhumanity which crashes through: "President Joe Biden is accused of intentionally allowing an open border due to the interests of the Democrat Party. Democrats have long believed that an increase in illegal immigration will pave the way in allowing US licenses, amnesty, and ultimately voting rights. Breitbart Editor in Chief Alex Marlow suggests that Democrats need a new voter base as their traditional base becomes conservative, and they see immigrants as potential voters." (Why Joe Biden Wants An Open Border Despite Terror Threat by Carver Malone). A perpetual motion machine is a hypothetical machine which can run indefinitely without an external cause. Such a machine is an impossibility because it violates the fundamental law of existence which states that something, such as motion, cannot come from nothing, and from nothing, nothing comes. By contrast in politics, perpetual motion can be a terrifying reality. In America in the twenty first century, a political perpetual motion has been created by the Democrat Party. Fueled by popular demand, the party has created a vote rigging operation governing all future elections which will keep Marxism in political motion forever.

TRUMP JAILED FOR LIFE

The British historian John Stowe in his Survey Of London, 1598, describes a special place in his land: "This place is called the Star Chamber because all the roofs therein are decked with images of stars gilded." The Star Chamber. It sat at the royal Palace of Westminster for one hundred and fifty years beginning in the late fifteenth century. Composed of Privy Counsellors and common law judges, it brought down a nightmare upon the accused which made a mockery of Anglo-Saxon freedom: secret proceedings, arbitrary rulings, accusations from the shadows, accusations without evidence, and the abolition of due process of law. The Star Chamber. Instrument of political oppression and the politicization of the law which jailed those opposed to the government. The Star Chamber. A court of coercion, persecution and forcible self incrimination which shredded the presumption of innocence and cast it into the winds. The Star Chamber. A mount of crucifixion on which the innocent were marched, terrorized, assaulted, pilloried, whipped, mutilated, usurped, fined, expropriated, ruined, imprisoned and reduced to the status of subalterns which cost them their lives: "In the Star Chamber the council could inflict any punishment short of death, and frequently sentenced objects of its wrath to the pillory, to whipping and to the cutting off of ears. With each embarrassment to arbitrary power the Star Chamber became emboldened to undertake further usurpation. The Star Chamber finally summoned juries before it for verdicts disagreeable to the government, and fined and imprisoned them. It spread terrorism among those who were called to do constitutional acts. It imposed ruinous fines. It became the chief defense of Charles against assaults upon those usurpations which cost him his life." (The New Star Chamber And Other Essays by Edgar Lee Masters. Abolished in Britain in 1640 with the passage of the Habeas Corpus Act, the Star Chamber has received a new lease on life in the nation brought into being by British ideas. It has enjoyed a grim revival in the nation which once led and protected the free world. In the twenty first century, in the United States of America, the Star Chamber is back in business and occupies the center stage spotlight in a theater of horrors featuring the rogue nations of the world. In the twenty first century, the United States of America has entered this theater, the only Western nation to do so, joined the savage jungle which defines the nonWestern world, and has disgraced itself, dishonored its British motherland and canceled its Enlightenment institutions for all time to come. In the twenty first century, the United States of America has acceded to the demands of the mob to overthrow freedom and jail its defenders. Defining the meaning of the term unAmerican, this mob peddles the religion of our times, has been peddling this religion since the dawn of the twentieth century, and with it has dug the grave of the West. In the twenty first century, the United States of America has fallen under the control of Marxism, the religion of the degenerate, the disaffected and the disturbed like no other religion in the history of mankind, and constructed a Star Chamber to enforce its control. At the chamber's tribunal sit judges elected for life by the mob to ensure that the voices of the opposition are silenced forever. In the twenty first century, after one hundred years of relentless agitation and propagandizing on behalf of Marxism, the United States of America is no longer morally recognizable by civilized people, and has thrown the leader of the civilized minority, the national voice of the opposition, the forty third president of the nation running for reelection in 2024, the political figure who like no other in the nation has aggressively challenged the advance of the Marxist gender, race and class monster, into its horrific Star Chamber. America's legal system has been transformed into a Star Chamber which has zeroed in on Donald Trump. Look inside this frightening actuality surpassing all others in the history of modern democracies and see freedom tried, condemned and executed. See Trump jailed on unspecified charges. See Trump jailed without knowing why he is jailed. See Trump jailed on expired charges. See Trump jailed on out of jurisdiction charges. See Trump jailed by an unconstitutional bill of attainder passed by the New York State Legislature extending the statute of limitations so he alone could be prosecuted. See Trump jailed for crimes he has not been informed about. See Trump jailed on nonexistent charges. See Trump jailed under imaginary laws. See Trump jailed on charges illegally written by judges and prosecutors. See Trump jailed because judges and prosecutors want him jailed and have created crimes to jail the man. See Trump jailed by a legal system which has rejected the principles of fairness and justice and descended into an anticosmos of dark rides, distorted mirrors, black lights and trap doors which open up into the blazes of hell: "Perhaps the weirdest, and by far the most unjust, thing about former President Donald Trump's trial in New York is that we do not know precisely what crime Trump is charged with committing. We're in the middle of the trial, with Trump facing a maximum of more than 100 years in prison, and we don't even know what the charges are! It's a surreal situation. Yes, we know that Trump is charged with falsifying business records of payments made to the porn actress Stormy Daniels in 2016 and 2017. But falsifying business records is a misdemeanor with a two year statute of limitations, meaning prosecutors would be prohibited from charging Trump with that crime after 2019, which was five years ago. They obviously missed that deadline by a mile. We also know that New York law allows falsifying business records to be upgraded to a felony if the alleged falsification was done with 'intent to defraud that includes an intent to commit another crime or to aid or conceal the commission thereof.' In that case, the statute of limitations extends to five years, which would have allowed prosecutors to charge Trump as late as 2022. Prosecutors missed that deadline, too. Trump was indicted in 2023. How did that happen? Because of COVID-19, when New York extended its statute of limitations by a year. That allowed prosecutors to slip the charges in right before the new, one time only, six year extended statute of limitations expired. But here's the thing: What was the 'intent to commit another crime or aid and conceal the commission thereof' that prosecutors used to raise falsification of business records from a misdemeanor to a felony? In nearly every case of alleged falsification of records that has been charged as a felony in New York, the defendant was charged with another crime—that is, prosecutors made it clear what the other crime was. In Trump's case, the indictment did not specify any other crime. Manhattan District Attorney Alvin Bragg said the law did not require him to specify the other crime. So Trump faced felony charges without knowing what he was accused of doing. And the really amazing thing is that the trial is now underway and Bragg has still not specified what the other crime is. It is a key element of the case. Without it, the charges against Trump could never have been brought because they were misdemeanors long past the statute of limitations. It is the other crime that makes this whole prosecution possible. But the prosecutor has not specified what it is. If that sounds vaguely unconstitutional to you, you're right. As former federal prosecutor Andrew McCarthy points out, the Fifth Amendment 'requires a felony charge to be spelled out in an indictment whose criminal elements have been established by probable cause to the satisfaction of a grand jury.' The problem, McCarthy continues, is that the election stealing conspiracy Bragg's prosecutors are accusing Trump of engaging in is 'not charged in the indictment' and, further, 'there is no such conspiracy crime in New York penal law.' McCarthy also argues that the charges violate the New York Constitution. McCarthy, of course, has been a vocal critic of Bragg's prosecution. However, even supporters of prosecuting Trump don't know what Trump is accused of. Just look at a recent column—Charting The Legal Theory Behind People v. Trump—from the aptly named Lawfare publication, which is published by the liberal Brookings Institution. (To give you an idea of Lawfare's perspective, back in the Robert Mueller investigation, its most prominent staffer staged a little celebration each time there was a new antiTrump story that he deemed a bombshell.) 'When Manhattan District Attorney Alvin Bragg first brought charges against Donald Trump in March 2023, the legal theory behind the indictment remained remarkably unclear,' Lawfare Senior Editor Quinta Jurecic wrote. 'Now, a year later, with the trial finally underway, the charges against Trump still have an oddly inchoate quality.' Jurecic argued that if you look in the right places, and can connect a few dots, you might be able to guess what law the prosecutors believe Trump broke. But the deeper she dug into it, the farther down in the weeds she got and the less definitive her answer became." (The Insanity At The Heart Of The Trump Trial by Byron York). Throughout history, free people have supported and empathized with those in chains suffering under tyranny. They have raised their hands in solidarity with the oppressed and extended their arms to the ends of the Earth to meet them. In the twenty first century, they see Donald Trump behind bars and see themselves behind bars. The cry out to the world: We are all Berliners.

THE VIRTUOUS SOCIETY AND ITS ENEMIES

The virtuous society was born in the only culture in which it could have been born. It was born in a culture which exalted reason as no culture in the history of mankind has ever exalted it. It was born in a culture whose shining symbol was Apollo, a god unique in the world's pantheon, a god which represented the primacy of reason over feeling, faith and animality. The virtuous society was born and flourished in Classical culture. It was based on a definition which is as plain as noonday to civilized people. This is the definition of man as a rational animal. This definition says that man survives and succeeds by the use of his reason, and not by the use of instincts of which man has none and by which animals alone survive. Man survives and succeeds by applying logic to drawing conclusions from information. This capacity to generate new knowledge on the basis of reasoning is the distinguishing power of human beings and provides the basis of man's morality and politics. A proper human morality says that man's good is a life which consistently utilizes reason and pursues on some level truth and knowledge. A proper human politics says that only those who realize the definition of man as a rational animal are entitled to enjoy freedom. It says that only those who live and work for themselves, surviving and succeeding by the use of reason, are entitled to enjoy human rights. Listen to the foremost philosopher of Classical culture describe man's good as a life of rational flourishing and describe the material necessities and luxuries of life as good only insofar as they allow man to rationally flourish, and as valueless when used for any other purpose: "Human flourishing requires the basics of biological survival, a good character (the virtues), and the finer things of life. Virtues are especially important, as they can help you achieve the other two things, but also because (in the best of us, anyway) we only acquire biological necessities and additional material luxuries in order that we may practice the virtues in a complete and unimpeded way. Do not make the mistake of pursuing material goods for the sake of wealth, or political authority for the sake of power." (Politics by Aristotle, Book VII). Listen to Aristotle describe the state as an instrument to protect the life of rational flourishing and not to protect freedom as such, for freedom is only a means to this end of flourishing and there exists no such thing as a human freedom to live a life of animals: "While the state came about as a means of securing life itself, it continues in being to secure the rationally good life. This association is the end of those others [the household and the village]." (Politics, Book I). "The state is an association intended to enable its members, in their households and the kinships, to live rationally well. Its purpose is a rationally perfect and self sufficient life." (Politics, Book III). In another culture which emerged in Europe centuries after the fall of Classical culture, the virtuous society has been unknown. This culture is Western culture, and though it gave the world monuments of reason in the form of the Scientific Revolution, the Enlightenment and the Industrial Revolution, its morality and politics are based on a Faustian exaltation of freedom, license and irrationality. While the symbol of Classical culture was Apollo, the symbol of Western culture is Faust, the sorcerer of legend who sold his reason to the Devil in exchange for infinite freedom, experience and power. In the history of the West, there have been two main political systems vying for power, and their struggles and alternations have fueled the political trajectory of the West. Listen to each system and see different, terrifying consequences deduced from the common denial that man is a rational animal. Liberalism. Denying that man has a definition as a rational animal, liberalism exalts the unbounded license of the individual. Agreeing with Classical politics that individuals and individuals alone have rights, and that groups have no rights, liberalism proclaims that individual freedom equals individual license and man's rights give him the right not to rationally flourish and the right to live like an animal. Proclaiming that all people enjoy equal rights, liberalism proclaims that the individual's license to live like an animal is limited only by the equal license enjoyed by all others, and thus the individual may not commit an act aggression against others, and so long as he obeys this principle of nonaggression, he may live like an animal as he pleases. Listen to the preeminent philosopher of liberalism proclaim that human essentialism is a myth, there is no universal rational perfection of man, and thus every man has the right to life, liberty and property to do as he pleases with them, with the sole proviso that he respect the equal rights of all others. Listen to John Locke proclaim people unite to form a state in order to protect their license, and this protection of freedom defined as license provides the sole justification of the existence of the state: "The state of nature has a law of nature to govern it, which obliges every one, and reason, which is that law, teaches all mankind, who will but consult it, that no one ought to harm another in his life, health, liberty, or possessions. If man in the state of nature be so free, as has been said; if he be absolute lord of his own person and possessions, equal to the greatest, and subject to no body, why will he part with his freedom? Why will he give up this empire, and subject himself to the dominion and control of any other power? To which it is obvious to answer, that though in the state of nature he has such a right, yet the enjoyment of it is very uncertain, and constantly exposed to the invasion of others, for all being kings as much as he, every man his equal, and the greater part no strict observers of equity and justice, the enjoyment of the property he has in this state is very unsafe, very insecure. This makes him willing to quit a condition, which, however free, is full of fears and continual dangers: and it is not without reason, that he seeks out, and is willing to join in society with others, who are already united, or have a mind to unite, for the mutual preservation of their lives, liberties and estates, which I call by the general name, property." (Second Treatise On Government by John Locke). Socialism. Denying that man has a definition as a rational animal, and denying that individuals are the primary realities, socialism constructs a god on Earth and commands people to bow down before it and sacrifice their lives for the sake of it. This god is called Society and it is a monster and leviathan which has the right to consume people as nourishment, to shut down their minds, crush their bones and drink their blood as it deems fit. The most popular brand of socialism in the West is that which peddles the envy of the have nots for the haves, the hatred of the have nots for the haves, the rage of the have nots toward the haves, and the vengeance sworn by the have nots against the haves as no religion ever has in the history of mankind. This brand was founded by a German theologian in the nineteenth century who researched and wrote down his theology in the one nation in Europe which allowed him, under its liberal constitution protecting free speech, the freedom to do so. This brand was founded by Karl Marx, who ensconced himself in the Reading Room of the British Library to set forth his satanic verses. Listen to Marx reduce man the rational animal to man a robot moved by mindless matter and muscles, reduce the individual to an instrument of the tribe, and distort reality in a prism marked class struggle. Listen to Marx proclaim that individual freedom is not liberation but oppression, an oppression imposed by the bourgeois, while real freedom is achieved by the enslavement of the individual to a monster and leviathan called the proletariat: "The history of all hitherto existing society is the history of class struggles. Freeman and slave, patrician and plebeian, lord and serf, guildmaster and journeyman, in a word, oppressor and oppressed, stood in constant opposition to one another, carried on an uninterrupted, now hidden, now open fight, a fight that each time ended, either in a revolutionary reconstitution of society at large, or in the common ruin of the contending classes. In the earlier epochs of history, we find almost everywhere a complicated arrangement of society into various orders, a manifold gradation of social rank. In ancient Rome we have patricians, knights, plebeians, slaves; in the Middle Ages, feudal lords, vassals, guildmasters, journeymen, apprentices, serfs; in almost all of these classes, again, subordinate gradations. The modern bourgeois society that has sprouted from the ruins of feudal society has not done away with class antagonisms. It has but established new classes, new conditions of oppression, new forms of struggle in place of the old ones. Our epoch, the epoch of the bourgeois, possesses, however, this distinct feature: it has simplified class antagonisms. Society as a whole is more and more splitting up into two great hostile camps, into two great classes directly facing each other: Bourgeois and Proletariat." (The Communist Manifesto by Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels). Less than two centuries after master Marx's founding of his religion of the proletariat, his monster and leviathan has mutated. It has sprouted Gorgons' heads flowing with poisonous snakes. Look at these heads and their strands. Aryan Marxism, feminist Marxism, black Marxism, gay Marxism, lesbian Marxism, transgender Marxism, green Marxism, Islamist Marxism, Jew hating Marxism, racist, sexist, white male hating Marxism peddled in the name of diversity, equity and inclusion, and critical race theory Marxism, which proclaims that progressive politics criticizes the ideas of the Enlightenment with its creed of reason and human universality, and is founded upon black racist theory and is a regime of black national socialist dictatorship. Three moralities: a rational morality, a license morality and a social morality. Three societies: one predicated on individual rational flourishing, the other on individual license, and the last on the enslavement of the individual to the tribe. Three thinkers who championed them: Aristotle, Locke and Marx. Three political options before mankind. One option, the first, lies buried, discredited and forgotten. The other two have been selected and have led the West into its doom.

NUREMBERG 2000

On January 30, 1933, it began. This was the day Adolf Hitler became chancellor of Germany and established race hate as the new state religion. The targets of the hate were Jews. Hitler established Germany as a People's Community based on race. He declared a national boycott of Jewish businesses. The Reichstag passed the Law for the Restoration of the Civil Service, which excluded nonAryans from the civil service, from the legal profession, and from teaching in secondary schools and universities. Books by Jews were burned across the nation. Jews were beaten in the streets, deprived of their citizenship and civil rights, and removed from society. Less than a century after Germany's master organist playing hymns of hate commenced his underworld performance, the haters are back in business, back with new names, new slogans, new colors and new uniforms, but back with the same attack on liberal order and the world of the Enlightenment. They presently march under the latest words for hate. These are words which exalt the tribe above the individual. They refer to race and gender discrimination. They seek to establish a racist and sexist society. They come from the same source as Hitler's words, the Marxist method and world view which does not acknowledge the existence or primacy of individuals and everywhere sees only tribes, but they now proclaim that man's highest good is the immolation of the individual upon the altars of a new mutated Marxist monster called Gender, Race and Class Politics. The new words for Hitler's tribal philosophy are diversity, equity and inclusion. Diversity refers to a state of race and gender variety achieved by being conscious of people's race and gender. Inclusion refers to a state of special accommodation of people of certain races and genders. Equity refers to a state of fairness and justice held to be achieved by the establishment of a racist and sexist diversity and inclusion regime. Now look at a rampage, a wild, uncontrollable movement of a monster preaching primitive tribalism and the resurrected nightmare of the Third Reich, and see civilization picked up, hurled across the sky and sent crashing into its grave. See old words exchanged for new words and Hitler's twenty first century children run riot through universities and smash up science. See them proclaim that progressive mathematics is diversity mathematics reserved for women and nonwhites. See them proclaim that a progressive mathematics faculty hires only women and black professors. See them proclaim that a progressive mathematics faculty requires that professors research, teach and inculcate the religions of black power and feminist power. See them proclaim that a progressive mathematics faculty requires that professors sign loyalty oaths to policies of black racism and feminist sexism. See them proclaim that a progressive university requires that professors in science, technology, engineering and medicine hold the correct political thoughts and opinions, those espousing race and gender politics, and indoctrinate their students throughout the school day in them. See them proclaim that a progressive university requires applicants for teaching positions to provide a statement on how they have advanced diversity, equity and inclusion policies and discriminated in their life and work against white males. See them proclaim that a progressive university requires that applicants for teaching positions demonstrate proficiency, not in their fields of study, but in the art of agitating and propagandizing on behalf of race and gender politics and teaching the necessity for society to discriminate against white males. See them proclaim that progressive science equals progressive politics. See them proclaim that a progressive university is not a liberal, secular institution but a political, ideological and religious institution whose highest degree award is that of doctor of racism, sexism and animus toward white males. See them proclaim that a progressive physicist subordinates the study of physics to the study of race and gender Marxism, as do a progressive chemist, mathematician, statistician, biologist, oncologist, immunologist and surgeon. See them proclaim that a progressive university selects scientists on the basis of their race, gender and politics and not on the basis of any merit, excellence or ability they may possess. See them proclaim that reality is a race and gender construct, and there exist no universal facts or sciences of nature but only black facts and black sciences, white facts and white sciences, and feminist facts and feminist sciences. See them proclaim that the best science is not science at all but is a form of religion, and is biased, subjective, perspectival and political in character, and seeks to overthrow the government, the community and the education of civilized people holding liberal values: "If you're a statistician with a doctorate and want to be an assistant math professor at California State University, Stanislaus, you had better be prepared to 'provide specific examples of how you have or plan to address diversity in your teaching, research, and service,' because in its Department of Mathematics, a diversity statement is required for those who wish to teach. The College Fix reached out via email to Michael Bice, chair of the mathematics department at CSU Stanislaus, asking: 'How would one go about addressing diversity through a position as an assistant math professor.' There was no response. Bice also did not reply to The Fix's inquiry regarding whether an otherwise qualified job applicant would have a realistic chance of being hired if they did not espouse a commitment to addressing diversity. The CSU Stanislaus' mathematics department is not alone in presenting job applicants for faculty positions with such questions. DEI requirements have become commonplace at many academic institutions—even in STEM departments where one's political beliefs and thoughts on social policy would seem irrelevant. Like CSU Stanislaus, Wesleyan College in Macon, Georgia, requires aspiring math professors to provide 'a statement of how [they] have supported diversity in [their] work,' informing them in bold letters: 'Incomplete applications will not be considered.' Lenoir-Rhyne University's College of Natural Sciences and Mathematics in North Carolina requires those wishing to teach introductory chemistry courses and general chemistry labs part time to submit a 'statement of teaching philosophy which includes a discussion of how [they] incorporate DEI in [their] job and/or teaching and learning.' As recently reported by The Fix, doctors who'd like to work as an 'academic surgical oncologist/breast surgeon' at UC Davis must first describe their 'contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion' as well. Similarly, last year when Illinois State University's School of Biological Sciences was looking to hire an assistant professor of immunology, would be research immunologists were informed ISU's biology department 'seeks candidates who use innovative molecular approaches to study any area of immunology,' but that regardless of their abilities as a researcher they were required to provide 'a one page statement describing [their] interest in or effort toward furthering diversity, equity, and inclusion.' In an email statement to The College Fix, Svetlana Jitomirskaya, a mathematics professor at UC Berkeley, wrote, 'I think it is becoming clear to more and more people nowadays that requiring diversity statements is a failed experiment, as not only does it have many markings of a political litmus test, but in practice it also encourages cynicism and even reinforces the biases.' Moreover, those subjected to these kinds of requirements when applying for faculty positions in STEM departments—or being evaluated in their current positions—sometimes find themselves baffled with how to comply with them. Bill Blanken, a chemistry professor at Reedley College who is part of a lawsuit against the California community college system pertaining to DEI requirements for current faculty, is quoted in a story on the Foundation for Individual Rights and Expression's news page as saying: 'I'm a professor of chemistry. How am I supposed to incorporate DEI into my classroom instruction? What's the antiracist perspective on the atomic mass of boron?' Additionally, critics of DEI requirements in STEM, such as Dorian Abbot, a professor in the Department of the Geophysical Sciences at the University of Chicago, often contend that these kinds of requirements are 'hindering our ability to produce the best science' in part by 'selecting young scientists partially using criteria other than scientific merit and potential.' "University Math, Chemistry, Immunology Job Openings Require Scholars Pledge Loyalty To DEI by Daniel Nuccio). The execution of reason by the firing squads of religion has been a frequent occurrence throughout Western history. It marks a stark difference to Classical culture, which exalted reason and symbolized it in the god Apollo. In the West, the Copernican theory was suppressed by the Catholic Church in favor of the Ptolemaic system, the theory of relativity was suppressed by the Third Reich as a violation of Aryan physics, and the science of genetics was suppressed by the Soviet Union as violating the tenets of Marxism. In the twenty first century, the firing squads have continued their work and succeeded in politicizing science under banners marked race, gender, diversity, equity and inclusion.

PEDOPHILES LEAD KINDERGARTEN

Saint Ignatius of Loyola was the founder of the Society of Jesus in the sixteenth century, a world famous religious order of the Catholic Church, an order whose members are called Jesuits. He authored two maxims for which he achieved notoriety throughout the world. They encapsulated his two fundamental beliefs: hatred of reason and science and worship of blind faith, and the belief that the purpose of education is not the transmission of knowledge but indoctrination in religion. Maxim One: I have studied at Barcelona, at Salamanca, at Alcala, at Paris, and what have I learned? The language of doubt, but in me there was no harbor for doubt. Jesus came, and my trust in God has grown by the doubts of men. Maxim Two: Give me a child for the first seven years and I will give you the man. Indoctrination in the tenets of a faith: the eternal aim of religious pedagogues down through the ages. It is the aim to stunt the mental development of youth, to rob children of their natural desire to know about the world, to kidnap human beings between birth and puberty and rape their souls on a daily basis, and to transform growing people into inhuman robots whose only desire is to kill and destroy. Indoctrination in the tenets of a faith: the abusers and agitators of the young, masquerading as pedagogues, have been practicing their craft with the greatest care and attention to detail since Loyola uttered his infamous words, and have launched generations of youth on dark trajectories of revolutionary subversion and violence in the streets. The Soviet Young Pioneers, Mussolini's Fascist Vanguard Youth, the Hitler Youth, the East German Free German Youth, young totalitarians commencing at the earliest ages, little hoodlums trained to hate the world around them, trained to declare holy war on reason, science, freedom and progress, trained to place this civilization within their crosshairs, and trained to blast it into the dustbin of history. In the twenty first century, a new assembly line has been constructed to churn out totalitarian youth so they may attack civilization. Like its predecessors in the twentieth century, it was designed by Marxist architects. They ran charged currents through Marx's religion of the proletariat and it grew and mutated into a monster. This monster of precivilizational tribalism is called Gender, Race and Class Politics, and it is Marxism's Frankenstein creature on a rampage across the West. It has entered preschool classes for the youngest children, ravaged and reconstructed them, and set them on a mission to overthrow liberal democracy. Look at its rampage across the kindergartens of the West and see funeral pyres ignite and incinerate the Enlightenment. The new rampaging monster proclaims that a progressive kindergarten alerts children to the racism, prejudice, injustice and oppression inherent in the capitalist system. It proclaims that a progressive kindergarten excludes white children from the classroom and teaches black children the tenets of race socialism. It proclaims that a progressive kindergarten teaches children that America and Israel have no right to exist because they are free societies. It proclaims that a progressive kindergarten teaches children that gender has nothing to do with DNA, as science has established, and can be changed at will, and people can become transgender, and males can become females and females can become males, and people can be nonbinary and be both male and female at one and the same time. It proclaims that a progressive kindergarten teaches children that they should change their gender if they identify as members of the opposite sex and undergo drug therapy, plastic surgery and bodily mutilation. It proclaims that a progressive kindergarten is ruled by pronoun police and gender identity gendarmes who ensure that psychotic children who believe they are members of the opposite sex are treated as such and are addressed with the proper pronouns. It proclaims that a progressive kindergarten is an animal training ground in which young people are made rabid and violent and turned against the capitalist system. It proclaims that a progressive kindergarten indoctrinates children in the tenets of black politics, queer politics and transgender politics. It proclaims that a progressive kindergarten indoctrinates children in the creed of abolition, the abolition of reason, science, sanity and civilization, and the reversion of mankind to a malarial swampland of strange tribes. It proclaims that a progressive kindergarten teaches children that service to the tribe and the renunciation of one's freedom is the highest form of liberation. It proclaims that a progressive kindergarten teaches children that capitalism is a settler colony regime which commits genocide against noble indigenous savages. It proclaims that a progressive kindergarten teaches children that Palestine must be made free and cleansed of Jews from the river to the sea. It proclaims that a progressive kindergarten teaches children that state violence is a necessity to eliminate the regressive voices of individual freedom. It proclaims that a progressive kindergarten teaches children that America is an empire of capitalist slavery and must be overthrow. It proclaims that a progressive kindergarten teaches children that liberation can only be achieved by the disruption of whiteness and the killing of white people. It proclaims that a progressive kindergarten teaches children that capitalism separates parents from their children by its regime of grinding, sweatshop, round the clock work hours. It proclaims that a progressive kindergarten teaches children that people are not individuals and should not be treated as individuals but should be treated as members of groups, and that blacks, women and the poor comprise three master groups meriting preferential treatment, while the group of successful, white males must be targeted for destruction. It proclaims that a progressive kindergarten teaches children that gay politics, lesbian politics and transgender politics are good, proper, respectable and correct because they reject reason, science and individual rights. It proclaims that a progressive kindergarten teaches children that capitalism is an inhuman prison industrial complex which keeps blacks in underground dungeons performing industrial slave labor. It proclaims that a progressive kindergarten teaches children that capitalism induces physical and mental sickness in blacks, sickness of which they can only be cured and healed by a regime of black totalitarian dictatorship. It proclaims that a progressive kindergarten is a journey into tribal war undertaken by black children, brown children, gay children, lesbian children, and delusional children who think they are members of the opposite sex, a journey which will culminate in campaigns of killing helter skelter and see messages in blood scrawled across streets and buildings, shouting death to white, heterosexual, gender adjusted males: "The nonsense isn't just on campuses. It's now being foisted on the youngest—our hope, our future—the innocent lisping toddlers in kindergarten. A friend, determined to torment me even more than the world already does, sent me a link to a horror show called Woke Kindergarten. The offense is rank. It turns out to be the pedagogical business of a certain Akiea (Ki) Gross, who offers her wares that supposedly help in the education of black children (I didn't see a single white child in any of her multifarious offerings), and that for a fee are made available to gullible schoolteachers and school boards from sea to shining sea. I've put a few links to some of her offerings below. Feel free to torment yourself by looking at as many as you can stand. But at the very top I've put a link to a brief appearance on YouTube of Ki that sums up succinctly her views—not terribly pleasant, I'm afraid—about Israel and America that 'y'all' need to know have no right to exist, and must disappear. So off we go. Akiea (Ki), please remember, boys and girls, is nonbinary. On her website, she says that 'Woke Kindergarten is a global, abolitionist early childhood ecosystem and visionary creative portal supporting children, families, educators and organizations in their commitment to abolitionist early education and problack and queer and trans liberation.' Ms Gross (they/them) describes herself as 'an abolitionist early educator, cultural organizer and creator currently innovating ways to resist, heal, liberate and create with their pedagogy.' In social media posts, she has stated: 'I believe that the United States has no right to exist. I believe that every settler colony who has committed genocide against native peoples, against indigenous people, has no right to exist. Y'all are the villains. We've been trying to end y'all. Get free of y'all. I believe in a free Palestine from the river to the sea. When I think of a world without state violence, I think of a world free of the US empire. I think about a world free of Israel. I think about land back to indigenous peoples globally. I think about the fact that we would not have to participate in these systems, because none of these systems would exist. That means kids wouldn't have to go to school because the world would ultimately be their classroom.' And here is what Ki offers to black children as a way to 'disrupt whiteness': 'In this Woke Read Alouds episode, Ki reads SATURDAY by Oge Mora, briefly touching upon capitalism as the reason Ava and her mom only have one day a week to spend together, and takes readers on a journey through various ways they can make authentic connections to this text, emphasizing the 'pause' and

'breathe' mindfulness techniques that Ava and her mom use to manage the disappointment they continue to experience and reminding kids that even though life looks different during the pandemic, we can get creative inside with the people we love.' " (Woke Kindergarten? by Hugh Fitzgerald). In the mid nineteenth century, in the village of Bad Blankenburg, in the German state of Schwarzburg-Rudolstadt, Friedrich Froebel made pedagogical history. He opened a school for children which he called a kindergarten. This was a "garden for children" in which children would be "nourished and nurtured like plants in a garden." His pioneering school for children at the age five featured playing, drawing, singing and social interaction, and exercises to develop numeracy and literacy. In the twenty first century, Froebel's kindergarten has been razed to the ground, the victim of a revolution. Upon its ruins is a church for young people, teaching them to pray and worship at the altar of a new faith. The innocence of youth lies buried in the ruins, violated by the monster of gender, race and class.

TO THE ENDS OF THE EARTH

They are the daughters of Night. They wear black, have wings, snakes in their hair, flames blazing from their mouths and hatred dripping from their eyes. They hound their victims relentlessly to the ends of the Earth. The Roman poet Statius describes their monstrous cruelty, their black spaces of no return and their instilling of abject fear in all those who meet them: "So prayed he, and the cruel goddess turned her grim visage to hear him. By chance she sat beside dismal Cocytus, and had unleashed the snakes from her head and made them drink the sulphurous waters. Straightaway, faster than the fire of Jupiter or the falling stars, she leaped up from the gloomy bank. The crowd of phantoms gave way before her, fearing to meet their queen. Then, journeying through the shadows and the fields dark with trooping ghosts, she hastened to the gate of Tanarus, whose threshold none may cross and again return." (Thebaid). These are the Furies and they have been unleashed from the underground abode they inhabited in ancient Greek mythology and been given a new lease on life in the twenty first century. They have been summoned by the establishment of a nation which once protected the free world. This nation fell from a towering mountain of freedom, from which it fired its arsenals at freedom's enemies throughout the world, and crashed into the depths of a tyranny in which it occupies the front ranks in the world's gallery of rogue states. The descent of this nation into the annals of infamy showed that nothing and nobody are immune from the moral cancer which spreads across civilizations in a state of decline. Moral fatigue, weariness, the rejection of reason and freedom as cold, icy, unbearable burdens, and the desire for the hot malarial fever brought by socialism and religion create a metastatic tumor which can consume the mightiest of civilizations and reduce them to memories and shadows. In the twenty first century, this cancer is Marxism, the leading mass gutter religion of our time, this once great nation is the United States of America, and the Furies the cancerous establishment has summoned is the nation's political system. It has summoned them to destroy a national figure whose mission is to halt the advance of the cancer. Not to turn it back, because Donald Trump understands that the establishment, the Marxist, welfare state, gender, race and class cancer in control of every home, school office in the nation, enjoys too much popular support to be slain, a support solidified over the course of a century, but only to check and control its latest most extreme manifestations. For his mission to reestablish America's borders, halt the mass invasion of migrant scum, deport the scum settled in the nation, halt the race and gender politics of black and feminist power, halt the racism and sexism paraded as "affirmative action", halt the racism and sexism paraded as "diversity and inclusion", halt the transgenderist attack on biological gender and the existence of DNA, halt the advance of a Marxist-Islamist axis of hatred of America, Israel, Jews and the West, and halt the double digit inflation rates caused by Joe Biden's trillion dollar stimulus spending and massive industrial subsidies, the forty third president of the United States, who is running for reelection in 2024, has been targeted for destruction by America's political organs, which have assumed the character of machetes wielded by an ascendant class of Red Guards. Look at the machetes, whose arc of bloodshed has reached from the Caribbean to Central America to Soviet Russia to Maoist China, and see them cut down America and reduce it to a savage jungle. Look at the machetes and see the blades gleam with the moral and political subversion of a nation. See civil and criminal cases launched against Trump without just cause and based on double standards. See Trump accused without evidence of being a Russian agent. See the establishment's investigation and intelligence agencies protect Joe Biden by proclaiming that laptop evidence of the global influence peddling operation he conducted while vice president was manufactured by Russia. See Trump unconstitutionally tried by the Senate when he was a private citizen. See states unconstitutionally disqualify Trump from running in the 2024 presidential election. See states pass bills of attainder against Trump by suspending statutes of limitations so that he may be subjected to civil and criminal actions. See Trump subjected to judicial gag orders in violation of his constitutional right of free speech. See Trump placed on trial without knowing the charges against him in violation of his constitutional right to be so informed. See Trump subjected to a 345 million dollar fine for overvaluing bank loan collateral, which defrauded no party and produced no victims, in violation of his constitutional right to be protected from excessive fines. See Trump subjected to a trial without jury in violation of his constitutional right to a jury trial. See Trump subjected to a raid of his private residence involving massive seizures of his private papers and effects, in violation of his constitutional right to be secure against unreasonable searches and seizures. See the FBI frame Trump by rearranging the files it seized to incriminate him. See Trump jailed for exercising his constitutional right to challenge an election and request that all votes be counted. See Trump found liable for sexual assault and subjected to tens of millions of dollars in damages in a civil trial in which not a trace of evidence was presented against him and the accuser could not remember the month or the year of the alleged assault. See Trump charged with fabricated crimes and assessed damages which Democrat politician are made immune from in a campaign staged by Marxist judges, prosecutors and juries to deny him equal justice, constitutional rights and existence as a free born person: "None of the five civil and criminal cases currently lodged against former President Donald Trump have ever had merit. They were all predicated on using the law to injure his reelection candidacy—given a widespread derangement syndrome among the left and a fear they cannot entrust a Trump/Biden election to the people. These criminal and civil trials are merely the continuation of extralegal efforts of the last eight years to destroy a presidential candidate in lieu of opposing him in transparent elections. As such, the current lawfare joins the Mueller investigation of the Russian collusion hoax. It is a continuation of the laptop disinformation caper and the '51 intelligence authorities' who lied about its Russian origins. It logically follows from the two impeachments, the Senate trial of Trump as a private citizen, and states' efforts to remove him from their ballots. The E. Jean Carroll case, the Alvin Bragg, Letitia James, and Fani Willis local and state trials, and the Smith federal indictment share various embarrassments.

Suspension of statutes of limitations: Carroll and Bragg could only go to court through the legal gymnastics of enlisting sympathetic judges and legislators to change or amend the law to suspend the statute of limitations as a veritable bill of attainder to go after Trump. Violations of the Bill of Rights: In the Bragg case, Judge Merchan's selective and asymmetrical gag order likely violates the First Amendment (prohibiting 'abridging the freedom of speech'). Bragg violated the Sixth Amendment by denying Trump the right 'to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation'. Judge Engoron, in the juryless James case, violated the Eighth Amendment ('nor excessive fines imposed') in assessing Donald Trump an unheard of $354 million fine for supposedly overstating the value of real estate collateral for loans, while violating the Sixth Amendment as well ('the accused shall enjoy the right to trial by an impartial jury'). The FBI likely violated the Fourth Amendment ('The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures') by raiding Trump's private residence, seizing his papers and effects (many of them private), and then lying about its own shenanigans of rearranging the seized classified files to incriminate Trump. The invention of crimes: The indictments of Bragg, James, Willis, and Smith had no prior precedents. These cases will likely never be seen again. Bragg bootstrapped a federal campaign violation allegation onto a state crime. Yet still, he has never explained exactly how Trump violated any particular law. No one had ever been tried in New York for allegedly inflating real estate assets to obtain a loan from banks, whose auditors had reviewed favorably the applicant's assets. Thus, the lending agencies issued the loans, profited from the interest, were paid back in full and on time, and had no complaint against the borrower, Trump. Nonetheless, James indicted Trump and convicted him of a noncrime without a victim, due the New York combination of a politicized leftwing Manhattan judge, prosecutor, and jury. No local prosecutor until Willis had ever indicted a presidential candidate for calling up a registrar and complaining about the balloting or alleging that some votes cast were not yet counted, followed up by an additional request to find supposedly missing ballots." (The Fall Of The House Of Presidential Persecutions by Victor Davis Hansen). Malignant transformation is the process by which cells become cancerous. Transformations can be caused by normal internal processes or by external factors such as diet, tobacco, infections and occupations. Over the past one hundred years, America has grown weary and exhausted and been bombarded by the deadly internal radiation of Marxist mob rule, and its DNA coding freedom has been damaged and destroyed. The nation has been stricken by cancerous cells multiplying tyranny and has been blackened over and rendered unrecognizable. The nation has mutated and transformed and exists in name only. It has left the Western community of nations. It is China, Russia, Iran, Venezuela, Cuba, Saudi Arabia, North Korea and every dirty and disorderly place in the world. Prosecuting Donald Trump in a whirlwind of licensed criminality and official lawlessness, it is a collapsed society which has fallen into the dustbin of history.

PETER HIGGS VERSUS THE ESTABLISHMENT

He was three meters tall and gargantuan in physique. He was a champion of the Philistines and issued a challenge to the enemy Israelites to send forth a champion of their own to fight him in a single combat. The Israelites' King Saul was stricken in fear of this champion and would not take up the challenge. But a young shepherd boy did so, and armed only with a staff, a sling and five stones from a brook, he defeated the Philistine. This champion of the Philistines was named Goliath, and the champion of the Israelites was named David. After the victory of David, a phrase was born which would inspire underdogs fighting for truth facing bigger and stronger adversaries for next three thousand years. The phrase is David and Goliath. In the field of physics, in the eyes of truth seekers, a David and Goliath situation has occurred and led to the advancement of the science. The underdog was Peter Higgs, his gargantuan adversary was modern theoretical physics, and the defeat of Einstein's and Newton's theories at the hands of Higgs has marked a quantum leap forward in man's understanding of the natural world, and a return to the world of human sanity perceived by civilized people from all cultures, epochs and locales. Common Sense And Physics. For thousands of years, since civilization first trod upon the face of the Earth, the common wisdom, intelligence and experience of mankind have understood a set of fundamental truths about the world. These truths are that there is no nothing, only something; man is conscious and therefore conscious of something, and that something is the perceived world of physical objects; man is not blind because he has eyes and his eyes see physical objects; there is no field without something which carries the field; there is no force without something carries the force and something which is forced; there is no continuum without something which is continuous; and there are no relations without things which are related. These are the truths which affirm that outside the mind, all is particles, and such things as fields, forces, continuums and relations are nothing more than properties of particles and have no independent existence apart from particles. Listen to the preeminent philosopher of common sense affirm that individual substances in space and time are the primary existents in the universe, and that all other things are merely properties of these substances: "A substance—that which is called a substance most strictly, primarily, and most of all—is that which is neither said of a subject nor in a subject. It is, for example, the individual man or the individual horse. The species in which these primary substances are, are called secondary substances, as also are the genera of these species. For example, the individual man belongs in a species, man, and animal is a genus of the species. So these—both man and animal—are called secondary substances." (Categories by Aristotle). In 1964, British physicist Peter Higgs, professor at the University of Edinburgh, wrote a letter to the journal Physical Review Letters which set forth a theory predicting the existence of an elementary particle which pervades the universe and explains and gives rise to all other elementary particles. This Higgs particle refutes the monistic worldview of general relativity, a worldview which common sense, exemplified in the philosophy of Aristotle, refuted centuries before. It as well refutes the doctrine accepted by all mathematical physics that there is such a thing as a void or absolute space in the universe, by affirming that everywhere there is existence. On July 4, 2012, the European Organization for Research in Nuclear Physics in Switzerland announced that its experiments had confirmed the existence of the Higgs particle, and it confirmed centuries of sane, common sense understanding of the world. In 2013, Higgs was awarded the Nobel Prize in Physics for his theory. This David slayed the Goliaths of Einstein and Newton and placed physics back onto an earlier track.

Einstein's Field Theory. Einstein's general theory of relativity proclaims that reality is pure field, pure space, pure geometry, and that gravity is nothing more than a curvature of space. It proclaims that gravity is curved nonEuclidean geometry, while regions free of gravity are flat Euclidean geometry. It rejects the ordinary, common sense view, founded in human sanity, that reality is constituted of individual bodies, such as tables, chairs, rivers, electrons and photons, and proclaims that reality is constituted of an absolute, nonbodily, nonseparate, undifferentiated expanse. It proclaims that reality is an unvisualizable, unperceivable, monistic substance. It is pure shape, curvature and flatness without the existence of anything which possesses shape, curvature or flatness: "The singular feature of Einstein's view of gravity is its geometric nature. Whereas Newton thought that gravity was a force, Einstein showed that gravity arises from the shape of spacetime. While this is difficult to visualize, there is an analogy that provides some insight—although it is only a guide, not a definitive statement of the theory. The analogy begins by considering spacetime as a rubber sheet that can be deformed. In any region distant from massive cosmic objects such as stars, spacetime is uncurved—that is, the rubber sheet is absolutely flat. If one were to probe spacetime in that region by sending out a ray of light or a test body, both the ray and the body would travel in perfectly straight lines, like a child's marble rolling across the rubber sheet. However, the presence of a massive body curves spacetime, as if a bowling ball were placed on the rubber sheet to create a cuplike depression. In the analogy, a marble placed near the depression rolls down the slope toward the bowling ball as if pulled by a force. In addition, if the marble is given a sideways push, it will describe an orbit around the bowling ball, as if a steady pull toward the ball is swinging the marble into a closed path." (Curved Spacetime And Geometrical Gravitation by Sidney Perkowitz).

Einstein's Field Theory. Einstein's general theory of relativity proclaims that reality is monistic and not pluralistic. It proclaims that it is a mystical unity, oneness and whole before which particles are unreal shadows and perturbations. It proclaims that true physics is not physical dynamics or observable dynamics or empirical dynamics or particle dynamics, but is a mystical geometrodynamics and study of the curvature of space: "The Spinozistic view of the universe is also found in Einstein's physical theory. In General Relativity Theory the universe is a unified whole, a spherical structure of spacetime. This mathematical sphere is reminiscent of Parmenides' calling of the One a sphere in a metaphorical sense, and Parmenides' successors Melissus' and Empedocles' use of the term sphere in a more literal sense. On one interpretation of General Relativity Theory, which was sometimes held as an ideal by Einstein, and later developed in its extreme form by John Wheeler in his geometrodynamics, considers material objects to be simply bumps in the curvature of spacetime." (Spinoza And Einstein by Val Dusek). Now enter the Higgs particle discovered in the twenty first century. The Higgs Particle. The Higgs particle establishes that everywhere there is existence, mass, particles, and that forces are mediated by particles. There is no void, no emptiness, no absolute space but everywhere there is a primordial particle carrying a field, and this particle has created the ordinary elementary particles comprising the objects we see all around us: "According to modern physics, matter consists of a set of particles that act as building blocks. Between these particles lie forces that are mediated by another set of particles. A fundamental property of the majority of particles is that they have a mass. Independently of one another, in 1964 both Peter Higgs and the team of Francois Englert and Robert Brout proposed a theory about the existence of a particle that explains why other particles have a mass. In 2012, two experiments conducted at the CERN laboratory confirmed the existence of the Higgs particle. The standard model of physics which underpins the scientific understanding of the universe rests on the existence of a special kind of particle: the Higgs particle. This particle originates from an invisible field that fills up all space. Even when the universe seems empty this field is there. Without it, we would not exist, because it is from contact with the field that particles acquire mass. The theory proposed by Englert and Higgs describes this process." (nobleprize.org). The Higgs Particle. The Higgs particle establishes that the universe and its building blocks are particles. All the forces in the universe, from the gravitational force to the electromagnetic force to the weak and the strong nuclear forces, are properties of particles. There is a particle pervading the universe which renders absolute space an impossibility: "In the 1960s Higgs and other physicists worked on an idea to explain why the building blocks of the universe have mass. It sparked a search for the Holy Grail of physics--a particle that could explain three fundamental forces (electromagnetism and the weak and the strong nuclear forces) in one theory. In 2012 scientists using the Large Hadron Collider at the European Organization for Nuclear Research (Cern) in Switzerland finally discovered it--they named it the Higgs boson. Alan Barr, Professor of Physics at the University of Oxford, paid tribute to the huge impact Higgs had on our understanding of the universe. 'He proposed the existence of a field [Higgs particle] that pervades the entire universe, [ordinary] mass to particles, from electrons to top quarks.' " (Peter Higgs, Physicist Who Theorized Higgs Boson, Dies Aged 94 by Georgina Rannard). Newton And Einstein. The Higgs particle represents the establishment by the modern physics laboratory of the truths known by common sense and human sanity for thousands of years. First, the Higgs particle establishes that the evidence of the senses is true, denied by Einstein, and that the universe is not a unified field but consists of particles as the primary existents, whose properties include fields and forces. Second, it establishes that motion is not relative, proclaimed by Einstein, but is absolute, and that the absolute frame of reference of motion is the Higgs particle. Third, it establishes that there is no void and everywhere there is something. Thus objects once set into motion will eventually slow down and come to a halt through drag and resistance unless there is a force to keep them in motion. Thus Newton's first law of motion, the law of inertia, is false. The impossibility of the existence of a void is described by Aristotle, who affirms that if a void existed, objects once set into motion would move indefinitely unless stopped by something, which would violate the law of causality: "In a void, no one could say why a thing once set in motion should stop anywhere; for why should it stop here rather than there? So that a thing will either be at rest or must move indefinitely, unless something more powerful gets in its way." (Physics by Aristotle, Book IV). The path of common sense and human sanity has run through the lives of civilized people since time immemorial. In the twenty first century, it has run through the abstruse centers of scientific research, experimentation and measurements. It has appeared in the form of the Higgs particle. The discovery of this common sense entity is the salvation of science.

THE SHADOW

The greatest schemer of all time, the organizer of every devilry, the controlling brain of the underworld, a brain which might have made or marred the destiny of nations—that's the man! But so aloof is he from general suspicion, so immune from criticism, so admirable in his management and self effacement, that for those very words that you have uttered he could hale you to a court and emerge with your year's pension as a solatium for his wounded character. Foulmouthed doctor and slandered professor—such would be your respective roles! That's genius, Watson. Thus speaks Sherlock Holmes in the Valley of Fear describing his most formidable opponent and the criminal mastermind of the world. This man is Professor James Moriarty and he lives forever on the front page of the annals of crime fiction, a genre epitomized in the stories about Holmes and Moriarty written by Arthur Conan Doyle over a century ago. The schemer of crime, the organizer of crime, the manager of crime, the controller of crime, the brain of the underworld, the deflector of scandal, the Devil's henchman, immune from the law and above all suspicion. In the twenty first century, Professor Moriarty has been resurrected by popular demand and placed in charge of the former leader of the free world. He has been placed in charge by the mob which controls the nation. His enemy is no longer the great fictional detective Sherlock Holmes but, on orders from the mob, the institutions which gave birth to this nation centuries before on the battlefields of Lexington and Concord. In the twenty first century, Professor James Moriarty has acquired a new identity and returned dressed up as a national political figure, and been sent on a mission by the mob to subvert his nation and render it morally and spiritually unrecognizable. He has officially served as the forty fourth president of the United States, from 2009 to 2017, but unlike his fictional counterpart, who was killed off in the story The Final Problem, he will not die, his career will live on, and he has been serving as unofficial president during the Biden Administration, and operating from behind the scenes to ensure that his handiwork will remain intact for all time to come. His handiwork was created by the Devil and he has been granted immortality to ensure that America is buried forever in the graveyard of failed states. The Devil aimed high and chose the leader of the free world as his greatest target. His first attack came via the mobs in the early years of the twentieth century who voted slavery into power on a ticket marked progressivism. The mobs renounced their freedom as an unbearable burden and placed the nation under the vice grip of Marxism. The mobs transformed the nation into a sealed chamber and began pumping poison gas inside. In the twenty first century, the chamber reeks of death, the stench is palpable and overwhelming, and the extermination of the soul has been rendered complete. Professor James Moriarty/President Barack Obama is president for life over a dead nation and has been given a mandate by the Devil to ensure that freedom will never rise again from the ashes of defeat. Look at the Marxist establishment consolidated in America by Barack Obama and see a nation betrayed by its citizens and reduced to a name and place on a map by a national agitator, propagandist and unofficial president for the cause of the leading religion of our time. Listen to the words of Obama and hear an implosion take place and a nation born of the Enlightenment swept into a black hole. The words he has uttered during his career have become the prevailing orthodoxy of America and the national platform of the Democrat Party. He proclaims that a progressive society is an antiIsrael society which has expelled all Jews from its precincts. He proclaims that a progressive society is a proPalestinian and proHammas society which enforces a creed of violence and terror. He proclaims that a progressive university prohibits law enforcement authorities from entering college campuses and allows college buildings to be occupied by Islamists. He proclaims that a progressive university allows Arab demonstrations to engulf the campus in flames. He proclaims that a progressive university arrests the defenders of liberal democracy and puts them into dungeons. He proclaims that a progressive university has organized and staged a Marxist takeover of the campus. He proclaims that a progressive university sanctions and encourages antisemitic behavior by students and faculty. He proclaims that a progressive university is a Marxist-Islamist regime which prohibits conservatives, libertarians, Republicans and supporters of Donald Trump from speaking or existing on campus. He proclaims that a progressive university puts up special tents for Jew haters and makes them bases of operations for the harassment and bullying of Jewish students. He proclaims that a progressive university is a far left occupation center graduating Marxist and Muslim students and these alone. He proclaims that a progressive university teaches antisemitism and black nationalism in every subject in the curriculum. He proclaims that a progressive university is a center for Adolf Eichmann studies and the propagation of national socialist style black swastika politics. He proclaims that a progressive university teaches students that there is a Jewish capitalist conspiracy to infect blacks with AIDS and commit a holocaust against them. He proclaims that a progressive university is a center for black racism, black identity and the extermination of whites. He proclaims that a progressive university is a black communist caucus. He proclaims that a progressive society is a roiling jungle of black supremacism. He proclaims that a progressive society is a nation of Marxists and Islamists. He proclaims that a progressive society is morally filthy and swims in the gutter of race politics. He proclaims that a progressive society is led by a Devil's ferryman named Black Hitler who has transported it into the depths of hell. He proclaims that a progressive society is a satanic temple of racism, Marxism, antisemitism, ideological foulness and community organizing for the destruction of civilization: "For a man who has never been shy about sharing his sanctimonious opinions, former President Barack Obama has been noticeably quiet about anti-Israel anarchists' takeover of US college campuses. On Monday, Columbia University—Obama's alma mater—announced it will not host its university wide commencement ceremony for this year's graduating class. That appears to be a response to the pro-Palestinian, pro-Hamas demonstrations that have engulfed the school for weeks. The announcement came days after the university (finally) permitted law enforcement to arrest participants unlawfully occupying a school building. One would imagine the erection of illegal encampments and harassment of Jewish students at Columbia and other American universities would prompt outcry from any former president. Donald Trump, for example, has repeatedly condemned these demonstrators and their anti-Israeli sentiments. But for Obama, the task is seemingly too difficult. Since the launch of the Columbia encampments last month, Obama has issued a smattering of posts on X, none of which address leftists' takeover of campuses throughout the country. While the former president wished Jews a happy Passover on April 22, he couldn't be bothered to condemn the antisemitic behavior on display at his alma mater or any of America's postsecondary institutions. It goes without saying that if the aforementioned demonstrators were MAGA Republicans protesting an Islamic country and harassing Muslim students, legacy media journalists would be relentlessly spamming the phone lines and emails of every GOP official in the country asking for condemnation. They will never hold Democrats to the same standard, and their refusal to call out Obama for ignoring the leftist occupation of universities shows it. While the media's inaction isn't surprising, neither is Obama's silence. Obama's decision to remain mum on the issue is representative of his behavior and the individuals encompassing him throughout his life. Allegations of Obama indulging antisemitism have existed long before he became president. Last year, for example, Tablet magazine's David Samuels published a lengthy expose based on a question and answer interview with David Garrow, a longtime civil rights historian who authored a biography on Obama in 2017 titled Rising Star. In his book, Garrow documented an argument between Obama and his longtime Chicago girlfriend, Sheila Miyoshi Jager. It allegedly started because the future president refused to condemn antisemitism and black nationalism. The dispute occurred after the two reportedly visited 'an exhibit at Chicago's Spertus Institute about the 1961 trial of Adolf Eichmann,' a Nazi who played a major role in organizing the Holocaust. It was during this time, according to Samuels, that Chicago politics was engulfed in controversy after Steve Cokely, a black mayoral aide, 'accused Jewish doctors in Chicago of infecting black babies with AIDS as part of a genocidal plot against African Americans." (The Democrat Party's Antisemitism Went Mainstream With Barack Obama by Shawn Fleetwood). An impresario is a person who puts on plays, concerts and operas. The term originated in the glorious world of Italian opera in the eighteenth century. At this time, the owners of Italian theaters were typically amateurs and had to commission impresarios to hire composers, orchestra, singers, costumes and sets. In America in the twenty first century, revolutionary theater has assumed control over the nation and reduced it to an amphitheater of mob rule. The composers, orchestras, singers, costumes and sets on stage, shouting out the colors, clothing, songs and symphonies of Marxism, Islam, Jew hatred and race politics, have been organized and produced by Barack Obama.

EARTHQUAKE STRIKES SAN FRANCISCO STATE UNIVERSITY

Its motto is Experience Teaches, the motto of empiricism, science and the Enlightenment. It was established in 1857 and was the first postsecondary institution in the state of California. On its first day, only six students enrolled, while today the student population exceeds 24,000. Today this university, listed in the Carnegie Classification of Institutions of Higher Education as an "R2 Doctoral University: High Research Activity", can look back on an impressive past: twenty one Pulitzer Prize winners, sixteen Academy Award winners, forty nine Emmy Award winners, ten Grammy Award winners and twelve Tony Award winners. But today this institution is unrecognizable. Its name is the same but it is not the same institution as yesteryear. Located geographically three kilometers from the Pacific Ocean, it inhabits an underworld untouched by light, sky or air. In the twenty first century, San Francisco State University, part of the California State University system, has descended into a malarial fever swamp roiling with Marxist agitation. It is no longer a university, as understood for centuries as an institution of higher education dedicated to the pursuit of truth, but is a vortex of revolution which has mauled apart the minds of its students. A look inside the university is a look inside the collapse of the West, for what has happened at the university has happened all over the world and signaled the end of the line of a one thousand year civilizational journey, which along its way before doom struck allowed mankind to flourish as never before and scale peaks of science, technology, engineering and medicine. This doom is what the people of the West want today; this is what they have voted for in landslide after landslide under tickets marked progressivism reaching back over a century; and this is what they have received today and made the minority of the civilized suffer under. Look inside San Francisco State University today and see a campus sickroom and ward for the insane mirror the spirit of the times and send out a stench of moral foulness disgracing the university's iconic motto. See a program and manifesto for the Marxist destruction of liberal democracy. See the university proclaim that Israel is a genocidal state because it seeks to spread freedom to savage lands and push back savage herds. See the university proclaim that progressive education demands that Israel implement an immediate ceasefire and surrender in its war against Hamas terror and give humanitarian aid to the terrorists. See the university proclaim that progressive education is a college of ethnic studies advocating hatred of white ethnicities. See the university proclaim that progressive education is a course of study of the histories, perspectives and experiences of blacks and native peoples advocating the deportation and removal of whites. See the university proclaim that progressive education is a brazenly biased curriculum advocating social justice in place of individual freedom and exalting the histories, cultures and will to power of blacks and native people in their struggle to kill whites. See the university proclaim that progressive education is a fight for black and indigenous supremacy under the banners of equity and justice. See the university proclaim that progressive education advocates the overthrow of capitalism in the name of anticolonialism and antiracism. See the university proclaim that progressive education advocates the overthrow of capitalism in the name of Palestinian self determination. See the university proclaim that capitalism is a regime of mass murder, starvation and disease inflicted on Palestinians. See the university proclaim that capitalism is a regime of genocide and apartheid against the people of Gaza. See the university proclaim that progressive education teaches students that capitalism is a regime of expansionist, military occupation. See the university proclaim that progressive education supports Palestine and hates Jews. See the university proclaim that progressive education advocates racism against whites in the name of diversity and making a positive change in the world. See the university proclaim that progressive education advocates for Palestine and against freedom. See the university proclaim that progressive education is a program of Marxist political indoctrination paraded in the name of student and faculty rights to intellectual and political freedom. See the university proclaim that progressive education advocates harassment, doxing, censure and incitement to violence against the opponents of Islamist terror and antisemitism. See the university proclaim that progressive education advocates a campaign of boycott, disinvestment and sanctions against Israel on the grounds that it is a free society. See the university proclaim that progressive education teaches students that Israel is an illegal occupation regime on the grounds that it has established the only free society in the Middle East. See the university proclaim that progressive education prohibits students from studying freedom in Israel and forces them to study Islam and the art of terror in Palestine. See the university proclaim that progressive education seeks to create a global mass movement composed of Marxists, Muslims and Arab ethnicities dedicated to the overthrow of Western civilization: "As the Chair's Council of the College of Ethnic Studies at San Francisco State University, we vehemently condemn the Israeli genocide and displacement of Palestinians in Gaza. We demand an immediate ceasefire, the provision of humanitarian aid, and a permanent end to the genocide. The College of Ethnic Studies at SFSU was created as a result of a six month strike demanding an education that represents the histories, perspectives, and experiences of communities of color and indigenous peoples. For the last fifty five years, the College has offered a fearless and engaged education committed to social justice and a curriculum responsible to the diverse histories, cultures, and struggles of our communities. It has understood the fight for justice and equity as indivisible, not as analogous or equivalent, but as entangled. We call attention to the links in anticolonial and antiracist theories, methods, and organizing. We see our rights to self determination as interdependent. To date, over 15,000 Palestinians have been murdered, over sixty percent children. Survivors are facing rampant disease and imminent starvation. We join the international community, including the United Nations, and organizations such as Jewish Voices for Peace, in condemning the genocide of the people of Gaza and the unrelenting apartheid regime of the Israeli state. We condemn equating the support for Palestine with antisemitism. We also condemn the equation of criticism of the Israeli nation-state, its apartheid regime, and its expansion through military occupation as antisemitic. We denounce longstanding Zionist efforts to punish us for speaking out against Israeli colonialism and for educating our students on the links between our struggles. We refuse to be silent or censored. We refuse the logics of 'washing' (pink, green, and otherwise) genocide in order to recast apartheid as democracy. SFSU claims in its mission statement that it is dedicated to 'supporting our diverse community and advancing social justice and positive change in the world.' We demand that the SFSU, and the CSU system of which it is part, stand by this commitment by taking the following actions: 1. Support the rights of our students, staff, and faculty to advocate for Palestine and to teach and learn about Palestinian history in the classroom. Make explicit their commitments to supporting student and faculty rights to intellectual and political freedom. 2. Reject the doxing, incitement, and harassment of targeted communities and grassroots organizations for their opposition to the current genocide in Gaza through means including but not limited to publicizing their personal and employment information with the intent of inspiring official censure and falsely charging them of terrorism and antisemitism. 3. Support calls for Boycott, Divestment and Sanctions (BDS) and divest from and end contracts with all states and corporations that invest in Israeli occupation. 4. With respect to the BDS call to not support institutions that benefit from apartheid, we demand the CSU suspend all Israel study abroad programs and enable Palestine study abroad. 5. Institute programs such as Arab and Muslim Diasporas and Ethnicities (AMED) across the CSU and provide such programs with funding, faculty hires, intellectual autonomy, and academic freedom." (College Of Ethnic Studies Chair's Council Statement On Gaza, San Francisco State University website). At 5:12 AM Pacific Standard Time on April 18, 1906, San Francisco was struck by an earthquake. It brought violent shaking, massive fires, the deaths of over three thousand people and destroyed eighty percent of the city. The deadliest earthquake in American history, it forced San Francisco State University to relocate temporarily to Oakland, California. In the twenty first century, an earthquake has struck San Francisco State University which dwarfed the earthquake experienced over a century before. It was a moral and spiritual earthquake. It razed the university and buried it in debris. Look at its violence. The condemnation of liberal democracy as a Zionist project. The condemnation of liberal democracy as a settler colonial genocidal onslaught. The condemnation of liberal democracy as a lash of oppression and exploitation against nonwhites and native cultures. The advocacy of extermination of America, Israel, Jews and the West, and the establishment of a Marxist-Islamist totalitarian dictatorship. The moral shaking, fires, devastation and loss of life have reduced the university to a name and place on a map.

SOVIET BANKS RETURN

On October 3, 1921, the All Russian Central Executive Committee passed a resolution for the founding of the State Bank of the USSR. On November 16, 1921, Gosbank commenced operations. It served as an instrument to impose state control over the economy and enforce compliance with the state's five year plans. It utilized bank balances and transaction records for political purposes. It implemented communist policy and gave loans to individuals and organizations, not based on their creditworthiness, but for political reasons on orders from the government. On March 1, 1992, after the fall of the Soviet Union, Gosbank was dissolved and succeeded by the Bank of Russia. Three decades after the breakup of the Soviet empire and the dissolution of its organs of repression, communist banking is back in business, and back bigger than ever before, spreading its ideological tentacles across the free world. It is back as an organ of a global movement now based in the West whose mandate is to debank and defund the voices of freedom. Debanking: the closing of a bank account due to its holder's violation of the tenets of communist political correctness. Debanking: the closure of a bank account due to its holder's power and influence in repealing laws and policies which violate freedom. Debanking: the closure of a bank account due to its holder's opposition to the bank's sole owner and shareholder. This entity is the mob and it has been in control of Western banks and in control of the Western establishment for decades, voting the establishment into power in successive landslides since the dawn of twentieth century, under a ticket as brazenly deceitful as it is stunningly effective: under a ticket marked progressivism. Anything but progressive, the communist ideology of tribal regression into the year zero has sealed the fate of the West, and in the twenty first century, the West's banks have begun assisting on the financial side in the campaign of enforcement. Look at the today's banks and see Gosbank resurrected from the nightmare of yesteryear, and see its Western resurrections financially starve, shut down and reduce to ruin the anticommunist opposition. See them force the opposition out of their home countries by closing their bank accounts. See them reduce the opposition to the status of rightless, insignificant nonexistence. See them debank the opposition on political grounds under the false pretenses of commercial decisions. See them debank the opposition for supporting Brexit and the right of Britain to be free and independent of the Marxist leviathan called the European Union. See them revive the repression of the Soviet Union and its counterpart in Hitler's Germany. See them adopt the tactics of the present day communists in China. See them target the friends and families of the opposition for financial assassination. See them abandon political neutrality and engage in brazen partisanship and close down the accounts of the opposition ostensibly on the grounds that they were not commercially viable, when in actual fact they were not politically viable. See them make decisions on the basis of politics and condemn persons and parties deemed subversive by the establishment because they champion the cause of reform and exit from the communist tyranny which defines the West today: " 'The establishment is trying to force me out of the UK by closing my bank accounts. If they can do it to me, they can do it to you too', said 'Mr Brexit' as he revealed that suddenly no British bank would let him have an account. Having a bank account is necessary to interact with modern society in a basic way and being deprived of that facility is tantamount to becoming a 'nonperson', a downcast Nigel Farage said Thursday as he revealed he and close members of his family are being prevented from holding an account in the United Kingdom. Warning viewers on Thursday night, he reflected: 'This is going on in our country. It's happening to plenty of people, I just happen to be one of them. But do you know what? Unless this rot is stopped in time, you at home may say things on Facebook or Twitter that may result in you losing your bank accounts too. That, I think, is how scary this whole thing is.' Farage had banked with the same banking group since the 1980s for both personal and business, he said, and that no reason was given for his longstanding relationship with the unnamed bank being terminated. Incredibly, the Brexit leader said he approached seven other British banks and they all refused to give him an account. Speaking on Thursday, Farage said: 'I've been living with something the past couple of months that may well fundamentally affect my future career and whether I can even stay living in this country. I got a phone call a couple of months ago to say 'we are closing your accounts'. I asked why, but no reason was given. I was told a letter was coming that would explain everything. I didn't know quite what to make of it. I complained, I emailed the chairman, a lackey phoned me to say it was a 'commercial decision', which I must say I didn't believe for a single moment.' Farage considered a couple of options as to what may have caused this change, including personal animosity against him because he led the Brexit campaign that the banking sector opposed. He also recalled that he had been accused of taking Russian money by a member of parliament speaking under parliamentary privilege, leaving Farage with no recourse to challenge the claim. He said: 'I don't think anybody has been treated like me in the world of politics. But then again the banks themselves are part of the big corporate structures in this country. These are the organizations that did not want Brexit to happen. A few months ago in the House of Commons Sir Chris Bryant, chairman of the Privileges Committee said using parliamentary privilege that I had received large sums of money directly from the Russian government. Truth is, I haven't received a single penny from any source with even any link to Russia. Yet because he said it, it stands. See them make financial existence impossible for the opposition. I wrote to the speaker, I demanded an apology. I wonder if that is what has been giving me part of the problem.' The veteran political campaigner was at risk of becoming a 'nonperson', he said, comparing the campaign to make life impossible for political undesirables to 'the worst regimes of the mid 20th century. Farage said on his nightly television talk show on GB News that: 'basically you've become a nonperson. It's rather like living in Germany or Russia eighty years ago. Or perhaps even communist China today. I wonder, are we living in communist China today, in this country?'" (Debanking Has Arrived: Farage Pursues Legal Action As He's Left Without Bank Account by Oliver JJ Lane). Look at today's banks and see them debank those outside the Marxist-Islamist mainstream. See them debank those opposed to Islamist mass migration, Marxism in the European Union, and a political establishment controlled by a Marxist-Islamist axis seeking to overthrow liberal democracy. See them cancel accounts for political reasons and masquerade them as business reasons and make support for Marxism a prerequisite to have an account. See them resurrect the methods and tactics of the Communist Bloc and cancel and coerce those whose thoughts and opinions shine out to the world as lights of freedom: "A German member of parliament says his account with Deutsche Bank owned Postbank has been closed for political reasons, claiming his being a politician from the right has made him a target for debanking. Alternative for Germany (AfD) member of the Bundestag and party cochairman Tino Chrupalla claims to have been debanked, telling national television: 'On Friday my account was cancelled by Postbank because I am an AfD member'. This is part of a process of excluding and discrediting people outside the political mainstream, he claimed. Postbank is owned by Deutsche Bank, one of the largest global banks. The AfD is a right wing populist political party that campaigns on issues like mass migration, the European Union, and failures of the legacy political establishment. German broadsheet newspaper Die Welt reports the comments of a Postbank spokesman, who stood behind client confidentiality to avoid discussing the case, but stated nevertheless they had the right to cancel any account they wanted to without having to give a reason. The remarks were made in a television program about the legacy of communist East Germany, the GDR, in modern eastern Germany. Chrupalla said he was proud to be an Easterner but was concerned about recent political developments in Germany. News magazine Focus reports the politician said he and others in eastern Germany were experiencing 'deja vu when it comes to bullying and freedom of expression: no longer being able to say what you think' and that, in Chrupalla's opinion communist like repressions on freedom of speech are 'coming back in current politics.' " (Debanking Comes To Germany: AfD CoChair Says Account Canceled For Political Views by Oliver JJ Lane). Beginning in 1921, the Soviet Union created Western European fronts for its Gosbank. These included the Commercial Bank for Northern Europe, the Donau Bank, the Ost-West Handelsbank and the East-West United Bank. In the twenty first century, a communist banking octopus has spread across the West long after its Soviet matrix was dissolved. It has financially strangled and starved the voices of dissent.

REVOLUTION

A revolution is a rapid, fundamental transformation of society. It involves mass mobilization, mass demonstrations, mass riots and mass violence. Revolutions have occurred throughout history and are necessitated whenever peaceful means of change are unavailable. There are two types of revolution: one which seeks to establish freedom, and one which seeks to establish slavery. Revolutions establishing freedom are epitomized by the American Revolution, 1775 to 1783, the French Revolution, 1789 to 1799, the European revolutions of 1848 and the European revolutions of 1989. The French Revolution initially established freedom but degenerated into a revolution establishing slavery under a Committee for Public Safety, a Reign of Terror, a Directory, a Consulate and Napoleon Bonaparte. Revolutions which from the first day sought to establish slavery are epitomized by the Russian Revolution of 1917, the Chinese Revolution of 1949, and the decolonization revolutions in Africa from 1955 to 1975, all of which led their societies into communism, and the Iranian Revolution of 1975, which led the nation into Islamist theocracy. A classic statement on the necessity for revolution, which inspired the struggle of freedom fighters throughout the world, is provided in the American Declaration of Independence, proclaimed on July 4, 1776. The declaration affirms that governments which violate the natural, inborn rights of individuals to life, liberty, property and the pursuit of happiness must be overthrown and abolished: "We hold these truths to be self evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. That whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness." Two and a half centuries after these words of inspiration were heard around the world, one century after communism was voted into power in America in a landslide victory under a ticket marked progressivism, and four years after Joe Biden was inaugurated as president and commenced a campaign to consolidate a communist monster called gender, race and class politics, a revolution is needed in America. It is needed because the power of the majority is entrenched like a vice grip and cannot be voted out of power. It is needed because peaceful means to redress grievances have been foreclosed and the establishment wears a shield of legal impunity hammered and riveted by the majority. But the shield is not bullet proof and civilized people know that bullets must fly in order that tyranny be slain. They know that a revolution is needed in America because through violence and violence alone can the path to freedom be opened. In America in the twenty first century, one hundred years of political abuse have reached a culmination and crisis point and necessitated a fightback by civilized people as they have never launched a fightback before. This is a fightback to restore constitutional government mauled apart by one hundred years of legalized criminality and hurled into a grave topped by a plot hatched at the highest levels of government to assassinate the national leader of the anticommunist opposition. It is topped by a dark crown inscribed with a plot to assassinate the forty third president of the United States who is running for reelection in the 2024 election. It is topped by a rifle locked, loaded and aimed at Donald Trump in an operation taken out of the playbook of rogue states, an operation which has evicted America from the community of Western nations and made it as morally unrecognizable as it is fit for violent overthrow. Revolution. Look at America today and see the 2020 presidential election stolen by the establishment. See the establishment violate the Constitution and allow state courts and election administrators to change election rules when the Constitution reserves this power to state legislatures. See federal courts refuse to nullify these unconstitutional changes. See the FBI compel social media platforms, such as Facebook and Twitter, to suppress the New York Post expose of the global influence peddling operation run by Joe Biden when he was vice president, knowingly peddling to the media the falsehood that it was based on Russian disinformation, an operation in which Biden's family referred to him as the Big Guy. See this suppression of the expose prevent voters from knowing a truth which, if known, would have cost Biden the election: "First, several states flouted the Constitution by changing their election laws prior to the 2020 election without legislative approval. Article I, Section 4, of the Constitution specifically entrusts the state legislatures with responsibility for prescribing the 'Times, Places, and Manner' of elections for federal office. In several states, however, the courts and election administrators exploited the media driven COVID panic to assume this right for themselves. The Republicans responded with lawsuits, but the courts could not or would not respond in a timely fashion. The second example of election rigging was more outrageous than the first, and there was nothing spontaneous about it. On October 14, when their apparatchiks saw the New York Post headline, Smoking Gun Email Reveals How Hunter Biden Introduced Ukrainian Businessman To VP Dad, they were ready to roll. The conspirators had known since December 2019 that this story might drop. That was when Mac Isaac alerted the FBI to a laptop Hunter Biden had abandoned at his computer repair shop in Delaware. Before handing it over, Isaac made a copy of its contents. Had he not done so, we would still be unaware of the role the 'Big Guy' played in the Biden family's seamy global enterprises. In an August 2022 interview with Joe Rogan, Meta CEO Mark Zuckerberg casually shared the inside scoop on how Facebook came to defuse the New York Post bombshell. Fearing the story might break at any time, the FBI reached out to Facebook, Twitter and other social media platforms well before the 2020 election and warned them of a potential Russian preelection 'hack and dump' operation. On the day the Post story broke, representatives from the FBI's Foreign Influence Task Force met with Facebook execs. As would later be confirmed at a House Judiciary subcommittee hearing, the FBI knew the laptop was, in fact, Hunter Biden's. Without protest from the FBI, Facebook promptly 'deamplified' the Post story, dramatically reducing its circulation. 'On November 3, 2020, the American people went to the polls to elect the president of the United States with the false impression that Hunter Biden's laptop was Russian disinformation,' the House subcommittee concluded three years too late. 'The American people cannot get back the 2020 election.' " (How To Counter The Charge Of Election Denialism by Jack Cashill). Revolution. Look at America today and see Joe Biden order the assassination of Donald Trump. See Joe Biden order the FBI to use deadly force against Trump. See Joe Biden order the FBI to initiate military combat with Trump. See Joe Biden order the FBI to terrorize the guests at Trump's personal residence, Mar a Lago, and pick the locks in the residence. See Joe Biden revoke Trump's executive privilege retroactively, in violation of the law, and order the FBI to arrest him. See Joe Biden order the FBI to ransack Trump's residence and exclude his lawyers from the operation. See Trump charged with crimes Joe Biden committed while he was vice president but was not charged with: "Joe Biden was ready to have his main political rival Donald Trump and his family killed for a publicity stunt! Judge Aileen Cannon on Tuesday unsealed numerous motions related to Jack Smith's classified documents case against Trump. One filing revealed Biden's FBI authorized the use of deadly force during their raid on Mar a Lago authorized by US Attorney General Merrick Garland in August 2022. Tons of new unsealed filings on classified docs case—I will try to post as much as I can, but this is mind blowing. FBI authorized the use of deadly force at Mar a Lago—Julie Kelly, May 21, 2024. Armed FBI agents were prepared to confront Trump. 'Should FPOTUS [Former President of the United States, Donald Trump] arrive at MAL [Mar-a-Lago], FBI will be prepared to engage with FPOTUS and USSS [United States Secret Service] Security Team. Should USSS provide resistance or interfere with FBI timeline or accesses, FBI will engage with [redacted] and [redacted] will engage with USSS per existing liaison relationships.' Oh my God. Armed FBI agents were preparing to confront Trump and even engage Secret Service if necessary. They were going to go door to door to terrorize MAL guests and even pick the locks. Gestapo—Julie Kelly. May 21, May 21, 2024. Recall that Joe Biden paved the way for his Justice Department to arrest his political opponent after he retroactively revoked Trump's executive privilege. Biden revoking Trump's executive privilege opened the door for the former president to be subpoenaed--the subpoena then opened the door for the Justice Department to charge Trump with federal crimes. Shortly after Trump was subpoenaed, the feds showed up to Mar a Lago and retrieved some documents and told the former president to put an extra lock on the storage locker. Two months later the FBI descended on Mar a Lago and rummaged through Trump's belongings without allowing any of his lawyers in the area. By November 2022, shortly after the Mar a Lago raid, Jack Smith was appointed special counsel to investigate the documents stored at Trump's Florida residence." (Newly Unsealed Doc Reveals Biden FBI Authorized the Use of DEADLY FORCE During Mar-a-Lago Raid--Armed Agents Prepared to Confront Trump by Cristina Laila). By the rude bridge that arched the flood,/ Their flag to April's breeze unfurled,/ Here once the embattled farmers stood,/ And fired the shot heard round the world. Thus speaks Ralph Waldo Emerson in his poem Concord Hymn. The shot heard round the world: the opening shot of the Battles of Lexington and Concord on April 19, 1775 which sparked the American Revolution and the creation of America. The shot heard round the world: the shot of freedom blasting out of the rifles of the nation's founding heroes and martyrs. In America in the twenty first century, civilized people need to hear the shot of revolution return to dislodge one hundred years of established and solidified tyranny.

CENSORS' SCISSORS MUTILATE CHILDREN'S AUTHOR

Arguably the Shakespeare of children's literature, from Fantastic Mr Fox to Matilda and The BFG, filmmakers and animators are still drawing from the enormous vat of material he created. Thus states The Independent in its survey Britain's Top Ten Children's Literature Superstars. He is regarded as the greatest storyteller for children in the twentieth century. He has been named by The Times as among the fifty greatest British writers since 1945. Four of his books have ranked among the Top 100 in The Big

Read, a survey of the British public conducted by the BBC. In surveys of British teachers, parents and children, he is ranked as the best children's writer. Time magazine has named three of his books in its list 100 Best Young Adult Books of All Time, more than any other author. He was one of the best selling authors of all time, whose books have sold over 300 million copies and appeared in sixty three languages. His name was Roald Dahl and the police have come for his books and taken them away. These are not the ordinary police but a special police force sworn in by the establishment to ensure that published books adhere to the tenets of political correctness. This special police force has been given a name. It is called Sensitivity Readers and its remit is to purge books of content deemed offensive to the Marxist ruling circles. On February 19, 2023, Dahl's publisher, Puffin Books, announced that it had engaged Sensitivity Readers to commence a purge campaign directed at Dahl's books. During the campaign, hundreds of words were removed. Politically incorrect color descriptions were removed. The phrase white with horror was replaced with agog with horror. In Charlie And The Chocolate Factory, the following sentence was removed on the grounds that it contained a politically incorrect reference to blacks: and immediately a huge black beard started shooting out of his chin. Politically incorrect references to nations, regions and ethnicities were removed. In Fantastic Mr Fox, The phrase hopping about like a dervish was replaced by hopping about like a frog. Politically incorrect references to gender were removed. The phrases men and women, boys and girls, and mothers and fathers were replaced by parents or siblings. In The Witches, the phrase the catspringer in his burrow was replaced by the catspringer in its burrow. In The Twits, the phrase ugly old cow was replaced by ghastly old shrew. In The BFG, the following sentence was removed on the grounds that it was a politically incorrect, negative description of females: If I is giving a girl's dream to a boy, even if it was a really whoppsy girl's dream, the boy would be waking up and thinking what a rotbungling grinksludging old dream that was. The word fat was replaced by words such as enormous and large. In Charlie And The Chocolate Factory, the following words were removed on the grounds that they were a politically incorrect description of mentally ill people: shut up in some disgusting sanatorium. The establishment's Sensitivity Readers spread their tentacles into the world created by Roald Dahl, a world beloved by children from every nation on Earth, a world glowing with the fires of warmth and benevolence, and showed Dahl's readers that nothing whatever, not their hero's books and not any books anywhere, were protected from the merciless onslaught of the mob's political police. See the political police purge language not in line with its Marxist agenda. See it purge language deemed offensive to Marxist sensibilities. See it purge language which Marxists cannot enjoy. See it purge language on the grounds that the use of politically incorrect words is of gravest concern to a progressive society. See it purge language to make politically incorrect books unrecognizable. See it set up a ministry of ideological truth to rewrite books along Marxist lines. See it purge references to women as cashiers and secretaries on the grounds that such are politically incorrect. See it purge the word white on the grounds that it lends legitimacy to white existence. See it purge descriptions of machines as black on the grounds that such are politically incorrect. See it purge references to ugliness and fatness on the grounds that such are politically incorrect. See it purge references to women as good looking on the grounds that such are sexist. See it purge negative references to mentally ill people, words such as mad and dotty, on the grounds that such are politically incorrect. See it purge the married names of women and mandate the use of maiden names on the grounds that married names are politically incorrect. See it purge the sentence most women are lovely on the grounds that the word lovely is sexist. See it purge references to males on the grounds that these lend legitimacy to male existence. See it purge the words mothers, fathers, ladies and gentlemen on the grounds that these suggest the notion of biological gender and thus run afoul of the transgenderist religion which denies the existence of DNA. See it purge references to the great writers of the Western canon, from Joseph Conrad to Rudyard Kipling, in a campaign to plunge civilization into darkness: "Passages in the books by children's author Roald Dahl have been extensively rewritten by its publisher to align with a woke agenda. Hundreds of changes to Dahl's celebrated children's books, including the likes of Matilda, James and the Giant Peach, and The Witches, have been identified by Ed Cumming, Genevieve Holl-Allen, and Benedict Smith in an article for The Telegraph, some of them changing passages of the works in question virtually beyond recognition. 'The wonderful words of Roald Dahl can transport you to different worlds and introduce you to the most marvelous characters. This book was written many years ago, and so we regularly review the language to ensure that it can continue to be enjoyed by all today,' publisher Puffin Books says of the changes—in other words, it is regularly rewriting those 'wonderful works' to suit modish sensibilities, much as Minitrue (the Ministry of Truth) continuously rewrote books and other records to suit the narrative of the powers that be in George Orwell's Nineteen Eighty Four. 'Words matter,' Puffin stated by way of further explanation. One passage from The Witches reading 'Even if she is working as a cashier in a supermarket or typing letters for a businessman' is contorted into 'Even if she is working as a top scientist or running a business'—with the real world existence of female cashiers and secretaries with male bosses apparently being considered beyond the pale. Paleness, meanwhile, is in itself also considered controversial, as is the lack of it: references to being 'white in the face', 'white as paper', and 'turning white' are changed to avoid the word white or removed altogether, while a simple description of two machines in Fantastic Mister Fox as 'black' is excised. Countless references to ugliness and fatness are also removed—'fat little brown mouse' becoming 'little brown mouse' and Mrs Twit no longer being 'ugly'—along with references to females being 'pretty'. References to a 'Mrs Silver' becoming 'Mrs Hoppy' are also removed, so the poor woman does not have to take her husband's surname. Many changes are classics of Justin Trudeau style woke censoriousness: 'Cloud Men' becoming 'Cloud People', 'twice the height of ordinary men' becoming 'twice the average height of a person', references to 'mothers' and 'fathers' becoming references to 'parents', 'ladies and gentlemen' becoming 'folks', and so on. There also appears to have been an overzealous approach to censoring expressions that could be linked, however tenuously, to mental health, with various remarks about this or that person or situation being 'mad' or 'dotty' ending up on the cutting room floor. Other changes seem, if anything, counterproductive, with an explicitly nonsexist passage in The Witches reading 'I do not wish to speak badly about women. Most women are lovely' being purged, for example. Some passages have been edited in aid of unpersoning writers other than Dahl now considered undesirables—the eponymous character in Matilda, a voracious reader, is no longer said to devour the works of Heart of Darkness author Joseph Conrad and British imperialist poet Rudyard Kipling, but of the comparatively inoffensive Jane Austen and John Steinbeck." (Publisher Rewrites Passages In Roald Dahl's Books To Promote Feminism, Fight Fatphobia by Jack Montgomery). Look at the establishment's Sensitivity Readers replace male characters by female characters in order to promote transgenderism and suggest that males can change into females and females can change into males: "In the latest woke assault on the works of Roald Dahl, a theater company has sparked outrage by casting girls to play the lead role in Charlie and The Chocolate Factory. Producers at the Playful Productions theater company have inserted their modern politics on the children's classic Charlie and The Chocolate Factory, hiring girl actresses to play the lead role of Charlie Bucket as the stage play tours the UK and Ireland after a run in London's West End. According to The Sun newspaper, audiences at a performance in Cardiff, Wales were stunned by the woke alterations to the story of a young boy who goes on a grand adventure after finding a golden ticket." (Woke Willy Wonka: Gender Swaps In Stage Production Of Roald Dahl Classic by Kurt Zindulka). Carlisle is a cathedral city in the English county of Cumberland, a city reaching back to Roman times and the construction of Hadrian's Wall. In the early twelfth century, it gained cathedral status with the establishment of a diocese. On March 4, 2023, this storied city was shaken to its core by a first ever attack in the city's history on a man with a pair of scissors. The victim suffered a punctured abdomen, a lacerated liver and massive internal bleeding. But Britain was no stranger to scissor attacks. One month before, the censors' scissors wielded by Sensitivity Readers went to work on Roald Dahl's books and shredded them beyond recognition. They reassembled the shreds into new, updated, politically correct woke versions. Mass produced in the factories of Marxism, the scissors have shredded sanity and civilization in the twenty first century.

THE WORD

A random walk down the streets of the West will reveal a word ubiquitously used among blacks but whose use is strictly forbidden to other races. It is a word described by the Oxford English Dictionary as "one of the most controversial in English, liable to be considered offensive or taboo in almost all contexts (even when used as a self description)." It is described by the Merriam-Webster Dictionary as "perhaps the most offensive and inflammatory racial slur in English." It is described by A Dictionary Of Modern English as "a term that carries with it all the obloquy and contempt and rejection which whites have inflicted on blacks." Among blacks, the word is the coin of the realm, a word valued above all other words. It is a symbol of the new politics of race supremacy and the rejection of liberal values which has assumed control over the community. Appropriated by black racists from white racists in the late twentieth century, it is a symbol of the black embrace of antiEnlightenment which mirrors the antiEnlightenment embrace of the culture at large. It is a symbol of the pride, fraternity, and sense of community and oneness which have grown like poisonous weeds within a new black racist regime betokening the descent of civilization into darkness: "For instance, a show on black Entertainment Television, a cable network aimed at a black audience, described the word as a 'term of endearment'. 'In the African American community, the word brings out feelings of pride.' Here the word evokes a sense of community and oneness among black people. Many teens I interviewed felt the word had no negative power when used amongst friends, but when used among white people the word took on a completely different meaning. In fact, comedian Alex Thomas on BET stated, 'I still had better not hear no white boy say that to me. If I hear a white boy say that to me, it means: White boy, you are going to get your ass beat.' " (Kevin Cato, wrt.intertext.syr.edu). This word is nigger. As forbidden for whites to use as it is mandatory for blacks to use, this word is a sign of the tribal politics spreading like wildfire across the West as nothing else is, and a symbol of the sickroom air of a civilization which has rejected reason, freedom, meritocracy and individual rights and reached the end of its line. Nigger. Look at the West today and see a swastika of black national socialism blasted in triumph across the sky. See universities admit unqualified black students. See universities admit black students with grades and test scores far lower than those of white students. See universities admit black students in the name of fulfilling racial quotas. See universities admit black students in the name of achieving social justice. See universities consider race in admissions in the name of affirmative action and give preferential treatment to black students. See universities establish explicit racial prerequisites for admissions and discriminate against white students. See universities establish two standards of measurements for admitting students, one standard for black students and one standard for white students, and see the black standard set much lower than the white standard. See universities adopt a policy of brazen discrimination in favor of black students and reject more qualified nonblack students such as white males and Asian females. See universities violate state and federal laws banning discrimination on the basis of race and admit unqualified black students because they are black. See universities proclaim that students' test scores do not matter in the admissions process and all that matters is the students' race, and if the race is black, students are given automatic admissions. See universities prioritize diversity over merit and admit unfit, untrained and ineligible black students. See universities assign admissions officers as black power enforcers. See universities exempt black students from learning the curriculum. See universities require white and Asian students to master difficult courses but not black students. See universities graduate black students who know nothing about the subjects they have ostensibly studied. See universities sacrifice fairness and equity on the altar of racial diversity and establish a black centered admissions process. See universities treat students as abstract members of racial groups and not as real flesh and blood individuals, establish a policy of favoritism toward black students, and make a mockery of their Discrimination Prevention Offices. See universities establish racial preferences as a norm, authorize their admissions staff to reject white students, and collapse into the dustbin of failed institutions. See universities lower academic standards to accommodate black students and descend to rock bottom in indices of integrity and credibility. See universities disregard the results of standardized tests taken by black students in order to increase black representation in the student body. See universities graduate incompetent students who are black but demand competence from white students who seek to graduate. See universities graduate the leaders of tomorrow, armies of blacks who are as morally and academically ignorant as they are violent, hate filled and dedicated to the destruction of civilization: "Long considered one of the best medical schools in the world, the University of California, Los Angeles's David Geffen School of Medicine receives as many as 14,000 applications a year. Of those, it accepted just 173 students in the 2023 admissions cycle, a record low acceptance rate of 1.3 percent. The median matriculant took difficult science courses in college, earned a 3.8 GPA, and scored in the 88th percentile on the Medical College Admissions Test (MCAT). Without those stellar stats, some doctors at the school say, students can struggle to keep pace with the demanding curriculum. So when it came time for the admissions committee to consider one such student in November 2021—a black applicant with grades and test scores far below the UCLA average—some members of the committee felt that this particular candidate, based on the available evidence, was not the best fit for the top tier medical school, according to two people present for the committee's meeting. Their reservations were not well received. When an admissions officer voiced concern about the candidate, the two people said, the dean of admissions, Jennifer Lucero, exploded in anger. 'Did you not know African-American women are dying at a higher rate than everybody else?' Lucero asked the admissions officer, these people said. The candidate's scores shouldn't matter, she continued, because 'we need people like this in the medical school.' Even before the Supreme Court's landmark affirmative action ban last year, public schools in California were barred by state law from considering race in admissions. The outburst from Lucero, who discussed race explicitly despite that ban, unsettled some admissions officers, one of whom reached out to other committee members in the wake of the incident. 'We are not consistent in the way we apply the metrics to these applicants,' the official wrote in an email obtained by the Washington Free Beacon. 'This is troubling. I wondered,' the official added, 'if this applicant had been [a] white male, or [an] Asian female for that matter, [whether] we would have had that much discussion.' Since Lucero took over medical school admissions in June 2020, several of her colleagues have asked the same question. In interviews with the Free Beacon and complaints to UCLA officials, including investigators in the university's Discrimination Prevention Office, faculty members with firsthand knowledge of the admissions process say it has prioritized diversity over merit, resulting in progressively less qualified classes that are now struggling to succeed. Race based admissions have turned UCLA into a 'failed medical school,' said one former member of the admissions staff. 'We want racial diversity so badly, we're willing to cut corners to get it.' This story is based on written correspondence between UCLA officials, internal data on student performance, and interviews with eight professors at the medical school—six of whom have worked with or under Lucero on medical student and residency admissions. Together, they provide an unprecedented account of how racial preferences, outlawed in California since 1996, have nonetheless continued, upending academic standards at one of the top medical schools in the country. The school has consequently taken a hit in the rankings and seen a sharp rise in the number of students failing basic standardized tests, raising concerns about their clinical competence." ('A Failed Medical School': How Racial Preferences, Supposedly Outlawed In California, Have Persisted At UCLA by Aaron Sibarium). Nigger. In a civilized society, racial epithets never lose their sting. Racial slurs never cease to be slurs even when uttered by members of the targeted race. The unholy word nigger has been reappropriated by the black community to symbolize a transference of power. It has been reappropriated to symbolize the substitution of black racism for white racism. Uttered with love and affection by blacks throughout the world, it is a word symbolizing the new order of race Marxism, race Hitlerism and the extermination of whites which has buried the West.

REDS RAID PENSION FUNDS

The Vikings were a seafaring people from Scandinavia who placed Europe during the Dark Ages in the grip of fear. Wearing horned helmets and arriving in their infamous longships, they attacked lands from Britain to France to Spain to Russia. Their aim was to loot and their targets were the wealth produced by the honest labor about which they knew nothing. Their methods were ambushes, burglaries, arson, lightning war and brazen aggression, inflicted again and again, which left behind a trail of total destruction: " 'There's no question how nasty, unpleasant and brutish they were. They did all that the Vikings were reputed to have done.' (Simon Keynes, Anglo-Saxon historian at the University of Cambridge). They stole anything they could. Churches were repositories of treasure to loot. They took cattle, money and food. It's likely they carried off women, too, he says. 'They'd burn down settlements and leave a trail of destruction.' It was unprovoked aggression. And unlike most armies, they came by sea, their narrow bottomed longships allowing them to travel up rivers and take settlements by surprise. It was maritime blitzkrieg at first. Worse was the repeat nature of the raids. The Vikings, like burglars returning over and over again to the same houses, refused to leave places alone." (Were The Vikings Really So Bloodthirsty? by Tom de Castella). One thousand years after the savage depredations of the Vikings, the raiders are back in business, and back bigger, more brutal, more merciless and more successful than ever before. Their names, colors, flags and methods have changed but their aim remains the same: looting. They now loot in the service of a modern ideology in order to advance this ideology's aim to destroy civilization and forge chains of slavery across the face of the Earth. The new raiders are the Marxists who are in control of the Western establishment as it hurtles into its doom, and their target can scarcely be believed by civilized people. Scaling heights of lucre as they descend into the depths of inhumanity, the Marxist raiders at work today have targeted old age pension funds and carried away cities of wealth saved by working people, who placed their trust in their pensions, for the day they can no longer work. Look at the raiders and see a diversion of money to Marxism and the creation of mass old age destitution without precedent in the history of the West. Look at them and see a siren wail for a gender, race and class war waged by women, nonwhites and the poor against institutions of liberal democracy. The sirens are wailing around the clock and their ear splitting politics has crushed the soapboxes set up in the gutter and shaken the Earth to its core. The new raiders proclaim that pension funds must be diverted to finance black power movements. They proclaim that pension funds must be diverted to finance movements which seek to dismantle and deindustrialize civilization, eliminate oil and gas energy sources, and turn back the clock to the year zero, in the name of reducing greenhouse gas emissions. They proclaim that pension funds must be diverted to finance a movement of Marxist environmentalism, socialism and governance. They proclaim that pension funds must be diverted to finance black racist hiring policies masquerading as racial equity audits. They proclaim that pension funds must be diverted to finance movements of suppression of the opponents of Marxism. They proclaim that pension funds must be diverted to finance movements of suppression of conservative, libertarian political candidates and probusiness trade associations. They proclaim that pension funds must be diverted to finance movements opposed to capitalism on the grounds that it is a regime of discrimination and injustice against women and blacks. They proclaim that pension funds must be diverted to finance sexist salary policies favoring women masquerading as gender pay gap reports. They proclaim that pension funds must be diverted to finance movements of black Marxists, indigenous tribes Marxists and people of color Marxists. They proclaim that pension funds must be r diverted to finance movements seeking to establish a low carbon, low science, low technology, low progress, low civilization economy. They proclaim that pension funds must be diverted to finance movements whose line is that Marxism is in the best interest of companies. They proclaim that pension funds must be diverted to finance movements whose line is that Marxism must motivate all institutional investing and asset management. They proclaim that pension funds must be diverted to finance movements whose line is that Marxism enhances the value of companies. They proclaim that pension funds must be diverted to finance movements whose line is that Marxism alone produces wealth, is the most valuable shareholder a company can have, and must convene shareholders' meetings to pass resolutions demanding the overthrow of constitutional government and the establishment of a totalitarian society: "Arizonans' pension funds have repeatedly been leveraged to forward racial and climate related resolutions at publicly traded companies, according to a report from conservative watchdog group American Accountability Foundation (AAF). Arizona State Retirement System (ASRS) used Arizonans' pension funds to back environmental, social and governance (ESG) shareholder resolutions on issues including race, gender, climate and politics, according to documents AAF obtained through a public records request. ASRS utilizes proxy advisory firms Institutionalized Shareholder Services (ISS) and Glass Lewis, who have each expressed support for ESG initiatives. 'That Arizona retirees' pension funds are being used to promote economically disastrous ESG policies should alarm every single state taxpayer, regardless of political affiliation,' Arizona state senator Jake Hoffman told the Daily Caller News Foundation. 'Taxpayers entrust ASRS to provide and vigorously advocate for the retirements and other benefits for state employees—not to prioritize woke policies like racial equity audits and defunding the American left's perceived political adversaries.' There were 183 instances of ASRS voting in support of what the watchdog refers to as woke shareholder proposals. They include 'racial equity audits, gender pay gap reports, efforts to defund conservative candidates and probusiness trade associations, radical climate policy, and proabortion initiatives,' AAF asserts. For instance, ASRS voted to support a resolution for a 'third party, independent racial equity audit analyzing Walmart's adverse impacts on black, indigenous, and people of color (BIPOC) communities,' according to the proposal by United for Respect, which is a movement consisting of Walmart, Amazon and other retail employees. The retail giant 'must do more to address significant adverse impacts of its policies and practices on those communities,' it states. ASRS casts its own votes, the system confirmed to AAF in an email included in the watchdog's report. 'The Arizona State Retirement System acts in the best interests of the members and beneficiaries of the retirement system,' ASRS public affairs and media relations manager David Cannella told the DCNF. Over 500,000 Arizona public servants are members of the ASRS, including state employees and personnel from schools in all 15 counties of the state, according to the system's website. The system manages investments consisting of nearly $12 billion in US stocks, according to documents it sent to AAF. ASRS paid $49,000 to ISS and $20,000 to Glass Lewis in 2023, according to its financial report. The proxy votes in AAF's report took place in 2022 and 2023. 'Pension fund and other clients of ISS can choose which voting guidelines best reflect the views of their underlying beneficiaries,' ISS told the DCNF. The proxy adviser also provided the DCNF with an example of one of their clients that specifically advocates against ESG proposals. Both firms have advocated for ESG initiatives, stating they are in the best interest of investors. They dominate over 97% of the proxy advisory services market, according to Capital Policy Analytics. Oil, gas and consumable fuel firms are 'slow to transition to a low carbon economy, thus posing a long term financial risk,' according to ISS in a document on 'insights' by the company's ESG executives. ISS has a section of its website dedicated to ESG, which states, 'ESG has gone from niche and narrow to a necessary part of institutional investing and asset management. ISS ESG can meet your needs for investment decision making and active ownership.' 'ESG issues are often voting considerations when they are submitted in the form of a shareholder proposal,' according to a 2021 policy paper by Glass Lewis." ('Dark Collusion': Swing State Pension Funds Go Super Woke By Jason Cohen). I wander through each chartered street,/ Near where the chartered Thames flows./ And mark in every face I meet/ Marks of weakness, marks of woe. Thus speaks William Blake in his poem London. Weariness, sorrow, distress and impoverishment of the old darkened the streets of Blake's London. On the front cover of the original edition of Blake's work is the image of a sick, feeble old man being guided by a young child. In the twenty first century, the weariness and woe of the aged have returned to the streets. The aged have been cast out onto the streets and become their permanent inhabitants, victims of the Marxist raid on their pensions.

GERMANY RED AND BROWN

Charles Stratton was a dwarf who became a global celebrity in the mid nineteenth century. Known by his stage name Tom Thumb, Stratton was watched in PT Barnum's freak shows by fifty million people throughout the world. He was a staple of Barnum's Hall of Living Curiosities, and this four year old, sixty five centimeter boy earned millions of dollars for Barnum and fountains of appreciation from Queen Victoria. Less than two centuries after they were condemned and shut down on grounds of cruelty and exploitation, freak shows are back in business, but now modified. Natural born freaks have been excluded on the same grounds as yesteryear, but they have been replaced by a new showcase of political freaks. These are national aberrations and anomalies which have shocked civilized people and filled them with fear and foreboding. They are nations doomed to destruction because their outward political systems do not comport with their inner political values. They are nations which project a pretense of freedom while undercurrents of tyranny move as sharks in the water and eventually sabotage and sink the ship of state. The main exhibit in this latter day showcase of political freaks, the nation which defines political freakishness as no other nation has in the history of the world, is Germany. The Germany of Hegel, Marx and Hitler, the Germany whose soul proclaims the primacy of the state, society, the tribe and the totality, is the Germany in which freedom's days are numbered, have always been numbered and will always be numbered. Listen to Hegel proclaim that man's highest freedom consists in the renunciation of his particularity, his natural rights and natural existence, and his enslavement to a mystical universal, idea, state and social connections: "Individuals in their capacity as citizens of the state are private persons whose end is their own interest. This end is mediated through the universal which thus appears as a means to its realization. Consequently, individuals can attain their ends only in so far as they themselves determine their knowing, willing, and acting in a universal way and make themselves links in this chain of social connections. In these circumstances, the interest of the Idea—an interest of which these members of civil society are as such unconscious—lies in the process whereby their singularity and their natural condition are raised to formal freedom and formal universality—the process whereby their particularity is educated up to the whole." (Philosophy of Right by G. W. F. Hegel, paragraph 187). Listen to Marx proclaim that man's supreme good resides in the renunciation of his freedom, his self interest, his egoistical calculations, his cash payments, his trading and his voluntary market transactions in favor of enslavement to the tribe and society. Freedom as ordinarily conceived, as the right of the individual to live and work for himself and be free of political constraints, brings oppression and exploitation in its wake, while enslavement to society and the tribe alone bring true freedom: "The bourgeois, wherever it has got the upper hand, has put an end to all feudal, patriarchal, idyllic relations. It has pitilessly torn asunder the motley feudal ties that bound man to his 'natural superiors', and has left remaining no other nexus between man and man than naked self interest, than callous—cash payment. It has drowned the most heavenly ecstasies of religious fervor, of chivalrous enthusiasm, of philistine sentimentalism, in the icy water of egoistical calculation. It has resolved personal worth into exchange value, and in place of the numberless indefeasible chartered freedoms, has set up that single, unconscionable freedom—free trade. In one word, for exploitation, veiled by religious and political illusions, it has substituted naked, shameless, direct, brutal exploitation." (Communist Manifesto by Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels). Listen to Hitler proclaim that a progressive society has nationalized, communalized and expropriated the individual and placed him, his profits, his businesses, his land and all his property, in the service of the whole, the public utility and the general good. A progressive society is a race Marxist, national socialist, totalitarian society of which the individual is the abject servant: "None but members of the nation may be citizens of the state. None but those of German blood, whatever their creed, may be members of the nation. No Jew, therefore, may be a member of the nation. The activity of individual may not clash with the interests of the whole, but must proceed within the framework of the whole for the benefit for the general good. We demand therefore: We demand nationalization of all businesses which have been up to the present formed into private companies. We demand that the profits from wholesale trade shall be shared out. We demand an expansion on a large scale of old age welfare. We demand the immediate communalization of the great warehouses and their being leased at low cost to small firms, and the utmost consideration of all small firms in contracts with the state, county or municipality. We demand a land reform suitable to our needs, provision of a law for the free expropriation of land for the purposes of public utility, abolition of land rent and prevention of all speculation in land." (The Twenty Five Point Program of the National Socialist German Workers' Party by Adolf Hitler). This is the Germany of yesteryear, the Germany of today and the Germany of all tomorrows: mystical, collectivist and a leviathan of enslavement which seeks to grind the individual into dust. This is the Germany which will not change and cannot change because its creed of human enslavement is programmed in its moral DNA. This is the Germany whose soul is its destiny and whose destiny is the attempt, staged over and over again, and repeated without mitigation and without surcease, to destroy human life on Earth. The liberal democratic Weimar Republic lasted from 1918 to 1933, collapsing before the onrushing tides of the resurgent German character, which brought a form of socialism, championed by a camp wearing brownshirts, into power. The Federal Republic of Germany, founded in 1949, is doomed to destruction and is collapsing before one's very eyes before multiple armies representing all camps of socialism, crowding the national stage and violently vying for control. Look at one Marxist camp wearing redshirts and see proletarian socialists advocate for climate activism, vandalism of airports, the abolition of airplanes, and the extinction of modern industry and technology in the name of reducing greenhouse gas emissions: "German authorities closed down Munich airport temporarily on Saturday after six climate activists broke through a security fence and glued themselves to access routes leading to runways, officials and local media reported. The activists from the group Last Generation were protesting flying, the most polluting form of transportation, said the German news agency DPA. Police have detained the six. Incoming flights had to be diverted to other airports, an airport spokesperson said. After a couple of hours, the airport's two runways were reopened though some disruptions to flight schedules may happen, a statement on the airport's official website said. Last Generation posted on social media platform X, accusing the German government of 'downplaying' the negative effects of flying on the environment instead of 'finally acting sincerely.' German Interior Minister Nancy Faeser slammed the protests and called for them to stop. 'Such criminal actions threaten air traffic and harm climate protection because they only cause lack of understanding and anger,' she wrote on X. Fraser also applauded police efforts to bring order back to the airport and called for airport safety measures to be checked. The general manager of the German Airports Association Ralph Beisel sharply criticized the climate activists' actions. 'Trespassing the aviation security area is no trivial offense. Over hundreds of thousands of passengers were prevented from a relaxed and punctual start to their Pentecost holiday,' he told DPA. Beisel also called for harsher penalties for activists who break into airports. Climate activities blocked flights at Hamburg and Duesseldorf airports for several hours in July." (Climate Crazies Glue Themselves To Munich Airport Runway, Breitbart News, May 18, 2024). Look at another Marxist camp and see it open up the wardrobes of the Third Reich and take out the brownshirts, and see it, during the descent of national dusk, twilight and gloom, chant slogans of racism, socialism and Heil Hitler: "A video from a nightclub on Sylt showing young people chanting right wing [race Marxist] slogans and making Nazi related gestures has caused an uproar. Politicians have reacted with dismay and a criminal investigation is underway. The video, which is now causing a stir in Berlin's political circles, is fifteen seconds long. It shows young people on the terrace of an expensive restaurant on Sylt, the North Sea island much frequented by wealthy German holidaymakers. The short sequence was recorded on what appears to be a mild early summer evening, with the first glow of sunset in the background. The young people are wearing smart-casual clothes and dancing. Five of them are chanting: Germany for the Germans, foreigners out. And at least one of the participants appears to be giving the Hitler salute." (Germany: Racist Video From Island Of Sylt Causes Outrage by Jens Thurau). Advertised as the "New Germany", the present day Federal Republic is a phantom. It is being scattered by the searchlights and guard towers of the old Germany, the only Germany which ever really existed. The old Germany, the socialist Germany, the Germany of mystical tribe worship and state worship, disgrace of Europe and blight on the Earth.

INTERNATIONAL COMMUNIST COURT CONVICTS ISRAEL

In the late 1700s, British courts became notorious for sentencing people convicted without due process of law to serve time in penal colonies in Australia. These sentences were referred to as the "Kangaroo Jump" and they left a black stain on British jurisprudence. The term kangaroo court was borne from this infamy and was used to refer to judicial proceedings which convict people without evidence. Human history has been tragically pockmarked with kangaroo courts and they have illustrated as few things have the danger posed to civilization by unrestrained state power. In the twentieth century, the most egregious examples of a kangaroo court were the Moscow Show Trials staged by the Soviet Union in 1936 to 1938 against former communist leaders. The verdicts were predetermined by Stalin and published in the decrees of the Politburo. In the twenty first century, the kangaroo court has for the first time in history been given a global stage and the imprimatur of global legitimacy. It has been given an impressive name, an impressive logo and an impressive seat in an impressive Western nation. It was established by an impressive state treaty and in all respects realizes Tyranny's dream of punishing the innocent under the cover of the law. Its name is the International Criminal Court, its logo shows the scales of impartial justice, it is seated in The Hague, Netherlands, and it was established by the Rome Statute, adopted at a diplomatic conference in Rome, Italy on July 17, 1998 and entered into force on July 1, 2002. Its global stage is established by the 124 nations which are party to the statute. But it is the same old kangaroo court, and stands in the judgment of civilized people as the worthy successor of the Moscow Show Trials. Its dark credentials for this disgrace were established on May 20, 2024, when Karim Khan, chief prosecutor of the court, applied for an arrest warrant for Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu and Defense Minister Yoav Gallant. Proclaiming that he has "reasonable grounds to believe" that Netanyahu and Gallant committed war crimes and crimes against humanity, Khan made his case before an axis of tyranny the likes of which mankind had never seen before. He made his case before an axis of Marxism and Islam determined to assassinate the leaders of the only free society in the Middle East and to exterminate their nation and its Jewish inhabitants. On the tribunal of the International Criminal Court sit eighteen judges enforcing the Marxist-Islamist party line, eighteen theologians in worship of Allah in heaven and gender, race and class politics on Earth, eighteen partisans for rabid antiliberal rule, eighteen riders of an antireason apocalypse, and eighteen nails in the coffin of the West which have sealed it shut and buried it forever. The chief prosecutor and his tribunal have issued a bill of indictment, conviction and execution of Netanyahu, Gallant and Israel, and in a scandal of scandals, placed the Mark of Cain, the stigma of the murderer, upon the The Hague and the Netherlands, a nation exalted throughout Europe and the world for the freedom of its soil. Listen to Chief Prosecutor Khan reading the Devil's bill of indictment and warrant for execution. He proclaims that free societies which fight against the forces of terror are automatically guilty of committing war crimes and crimes against humanity. He proclaims that free societies which fight against the forces of terror are automatically guilty of attacking and starving civilians. He proclaims that a progressive society is a terrorist society, a genocidal society and a Hamas society which has launched a Holocaust against the Jews. He proclaims that a progressive society is based upon an impulse to maim and kill Jews because they stand for liberal democracy which is inimical to Islam. He proclaims that a progressive society is a fanatical society which has the right to sacrifice international law upon the altar of religious ideology. He proclaims that free societies and law abiding societies have no right to defend themselves against acts committed by lawless, aggressive societies. He proclaims that those who engage in violence in the service of Hamas are morally superior to the leaders of Israel who uphold the norms of international morality. He proclaims that a progressive society exalts such leaders as Adolf Hitler and Osama bin Laden in their campaigns to annihilate Jews. He proclaims that Islamist armies such as Hamas have a right to use civilians as human shields and use hospitals as terror arsenals, terror hiding places and terror command centers. He proclaims that Israel has an obligation to allow free passage into Gaza of convoys carrying food, water and terror. He proclaims that Hamas has the right to steal food and water from Gazan civilians to support its terrorists. He proclaims that Hamas has the right to shoot civilians in Gaza who are trying to escape and live in safety. He proclaims that Hamas has the right to launch terror attacks against against food deliveries headed to Gazan civilians. He proclaims that Hamas has the right to violate ceasefires it promised in its campaign to destroy Israel. He proclaims that Hamas has the right to violate the Geneva Conventions governing the conduct of armies during war and to kill prisoners, kill civilians, and kill the sick and wounded. He proclaims that Israel has a duty to effect an immediate ceasefire and immediately surrender to Hamas in the name of justice and humanitarianism. He proclaims that the International Criminal Court is a Marxist and Islamist court whose holy mission is to pervert the Rome Statute on which it was founded and legalize Hitler's Final Solution: "International Criminal Court (ICC) Chief Prosecutor Karim Khan announced that he is seeking arrest warrants for Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu and Defense Minister Yoav Gallant. He falsely accused them of committing war crimes and crimes against humanity in Gaza following Hamas' terrorist attack in Israel on October 7th. The bogus charges include starvation of civilians as a method of warfare, intentionally directing attacks against a civilian population, and extermination and/or murder. Israel is fighting a war for its survival against Hamas, the terrorist organization that triggered the war in Gaza with its genocidal attack inside Israel that killed the most Jews in a single day since the Holocaust. Nevertheless, Mr Khan equates the democratically elected leaders of Israel who are trying to defend their people against genocide with the bloodthirsty maniacs who are leading a terrorist organization committed to annihilating Israel because it is a Jewish state. This represents the perversion of international law at its worst. By his actions in this case, the chief prosecutor of the ICC has effectively eliminated the distinction between moral and lawful acts of self defense on the one hand and immoral and unlawful acts of aggression with the intent to commit genocide on the other. He has eliminated the distinction between good and evil. As Prime Minister Netanyahu put it, Mr Khan has created 'a twisted and false moral equivalence between the leaders of Israel and the henchmen of Hamas. This is like creating a moral equivalence after September 11th between [former US] President [George] Bush and [slain al-Qaeda leader] Osama Bin Laden, or during World War II between [former US President Franklin Delano Roosevelt] FDR and [former German Chancellor Adolf] Hitler.' To his credit, even President Biden issued a statement denouncing Mr. Khan's announcement, declaring that 'whatever this prosecutor might imply, there is no equivalence—none—between Israel and Hamas.' Unfortunately, however, President Biden's recent actions distancing his administration from Israel's government by cutting off the delivery of some weapons to Israel and calling prematurely for an immediate and permanent ceasefire play into the hands of Hamas. Contrary to the vile propaganda spread by the Palestinians themselves and their supporters in the so-called 'international community' and mainstream media, Israel's military has done more to protect civilians during wartime than any military has done in modern history. It has done so despite Hamas' deliberate use of civilians as human shields and its use of civilian facilities such as hospitals--both within and underground--as command centers as well as places to hide fighters and store weapons. Regarding the availability of food and other necessities in Gaza, Israel has opened crossings to allow the entry of convoys with such supplies to the extent that is consistent with its security requirements. The United Nations and other groups responsible for distributing the aid to the Gazan civilians who need it have failed to do so properly. Hamas has stolen some of these supplies for its own use, abandoning Gazan civilians who are desperate for food and water. The terrorists also launched rockets from Rafah, which landed in the vicinity of one of the crossings and killed three Israeli soldiers. In response, Israel temporarily closed that crossing, which it has since reopened despite the risks to its troops. Hamas is responsible for the suffering of Palestinian civilians in Gaza, not Israel. Hamas started the war in the first place. " (ICC Prosecutor Targets Israeli Leaders For Arrest by Joseph Klein). In the twenty first century, the kangaroo court jumped from the Moscow Show Trials to the International Criminal Court in The Hague. The jump marked a progression of terror which saw the court's original Marxist judges assisted by judges from the underworld of Islam. Packed with Marxists, Islamists, Hamas and Jew haters of all colors, the International Criminal Court has executed civilization within its chamber.
